

Daily Mirror

Fountain Pens for All.

See page 2.

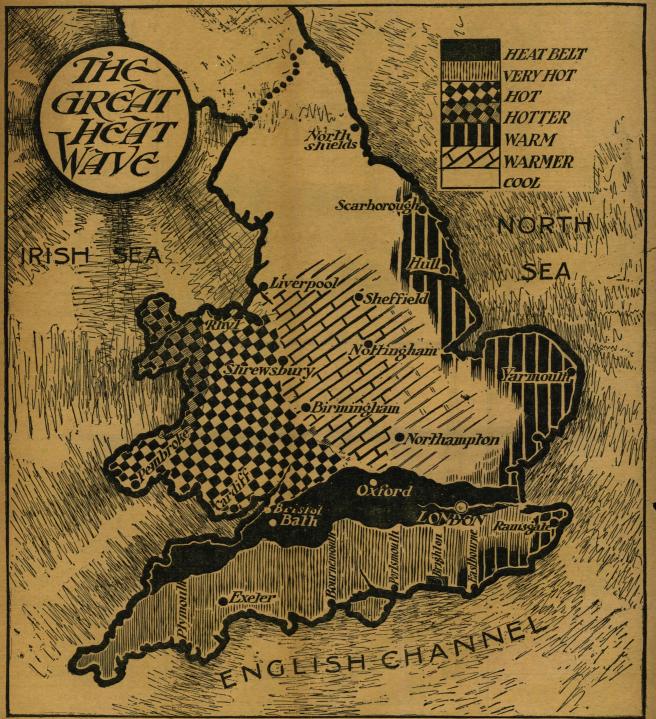

No. 215.

Registered at the G. P.

TUESDAY, JULY 12, 1904.

One Halfpenny.

ENGLAND'S HOTTEST AND COOLEST PLACES.

BIRTHS.

- FOREMAN.—On the 9th, at Ludlow House, 236, Ferme Park-road, Hornsey, the wife of Frederick J. Foreman
- of a son.

  GERIG. —On July 3 at 60. Grove-main Walthamstow, the wife of James Grag, James Condense and Sattor, wife of William Kelly, of a son.

  EEACH. —On July 9, at 26, Alexandra-drive, Liverpool, the wife of William Kelly of a son.

  EEACH. —On July 9, at 26, Alexandra-drive, Liverpool, the wife of Harold Leach of a son.

  STREPHENSON. —On July

  H.M.S. Mommouth, of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

- MARRIAGES.

  BIUMBERG-LANE—On July 4, at Forrabury Church, Bencastle, by the Rev. H. M. Price, M.A., Herbert Edward Blumberg, Capitaln and Adjustant R.M.L., editest not of Bundberg, Capitaln and Adjustant R.M.L., editest not Tudor, vidow of the late F. Cecil Lane, Esq., of PlymouthDAIDY—MEVILILE—On the 9th inst. at St. Mary Abbots Church, Kensington, by the Lord Bithop of Frederic Francis Daily, of the Inner Temple, Barristeraclaw, to Elizabeth Violet Frances, eldest daughter of Mrs. McVille of 8, Agryllroad, Kennington Sussex, and
  Mrs. McVille of 8, Agryllroad, Kennington Sussex, and
  Mrs. McVille of 8, Agryllroad, Kennington
  Basson—FREEMAN—On July 9, at St. Mark's Church, Beighton, by the Rev. A. Morgan, M.A., Robert Eason, Thomas Freeman, of 39, Eston-place, Brighton.
  PANNE—COLLINOS—On the 6th inst., at Heavittee
  Church, Exster. by the Rev. T., J. Fonting, Herbert Onlyno, Gertrude, younger daughter of J. A., Collings,
  J.P., of Holnicote, Exster. South African papers, please COUY.

DEATHS.

- BLISSARD.—On July 9, at 9, Victoria-square, Reading the Rev. John Charles Blissard, for many years loar of the Rev. John Charles Blissard, for many years loar of home of the property of the property of the home and the property of the property of the helmins Ann, the wife of John Lyall Middleton, and youngest child of the late the Hon, James Stewart (22ad Regiment), of Shawpark, Janasies, West Indica, agail 26

- ROSE.—Dearest on earth, thinking of you.—VIOLET TODDLEOFF.—Where going, 21st, who with? Wi INSOME.
- KINDLY sign appointment Red and White.—SCARLET RUNNER.
- IG.—Have removed to ninety-seven, same road and wan Come, or write at once. Urgent. Am alone. QUEEN.
- Enrico Brenelli will communicate with Mr. solicitor, 22, Forth-street, Edinburgh, he will something to his advantage.

AMUSEMENTS.

- HAYMARKET. TO-NIGHT at 9.

  LADY FLIRT.

  Preceded at 8.30 by THE WIDOW WOOS.

  LAST MATINED TO-MORROW (Wednesday), at 2.30.
- IMPERIAL THEATRE. Mr. Lewis Waller.
  TONIGHT and EVERY EVENING at 9.
  MATHEE WEDNESDAYS and SATURDLYS at 3.
  100HH PERFORMANCE TO MORROW (Wednesday).
  Preceded at 3.15 by THE PASSWOED.

- SHAFTESBURY.

  EVERY EVENING at 8.15.

  EVERY EVENING at 8.15.

  Mr. Henry W. Savage's American Co. 4n

  THE WILLIAM SAVENSIAV and SATURDAY at 2.15.

  Box Office 10 to 10.
- ST. JAMES'S.—Mr. GEORGE ALEXANDER.
  LAST 4 NIGHTS.
  FINAL TANGETTS.
  FINAL STATEMENT OF THE ST
- THE OXFORD.— HACKENSCHMIDT (at 1.0.05); DONEY HARKEIL, the famous Anterlean Monolegists, VESTA TILLIOY, Geo. Monard, Clark and Hamilton, Vesta Victoria, 5 Delevines, Tom Foy and Co., Bister Devons, and other start. Open 74, O. Box Office, open 11 to 5. SATULDAY MATINEES at 2.50—Manager, Mr. ALBERT GILMER.

- ORYSTAL PALACE.

  CRYSTAL PALACE.

  ORDERS OF STANDARD SO. "ALL THAT STANDARD SO." ALL THAT STANDARD SO." ALL THAT SO. STANDARD SO." ALL THAT STANDARD SO." ALL THAT STANDARD SO." ALL THAT STANDARD SO. S
- THE CHARING CROSS BANK. Est, 1870.

  THE CHARING CROSS BANK. Est, 1870.

  119 and 120. Bishous; toest Within, E.C., London.

  Assat, 2597,790. Liabilities, 2305,860. Surplus,

  2507,790. Tabilities, 2405,860. Surplus,

  2508,800. S

TO-DAY'S NEWS AT A GLANCE.

Our special weather forecast for to-day is: Easterly to variable gusty breezes; fine and very warm to close and thundery, with some local storms in the south.

Lighting-up time: 9.12 p.m.

Sea passages will be smooth in the north and west, moderate in the east and south.

THE WAR.

Secrecy marks the progress of events in the war zone, and beyond the actual announcement of the capture of Kaiping by the Japanese, there are few definite details to hand. In the four days' fighting the Russians had 200 casualties.—(Page 3.)

There is practically continuous fighting at Port Arthur, and on the 8th the Russians had 1,700 casualties, with more to come. The Russian fleet made a sortie, but were driven back.—(Page 3.)

- The Primee and Princess of Wales yesterday drove to the City-road to open the Queen Victoria Hall of the New Leysian Mission building.—(Page 13.)
- The Kaiser has commissioned Herreshoff, of New York, to build him a new racing yacht, which must be faster than the Ingomar.—(Page 4.)
- Oswestry is now quite in the throes of the election campaign, the two candidates, Mr. Bridgeman (C.) and Mr. Bright (L.), having got to work in earnest.—[Page 4.]
- Lieutenant John Duncan Grant, of the 8th Shurkas, was the hero of the storming of the Gyangtse Jong. He was the first through the breach, but was severely injured.—(Page 5.)
- Many Mirror readers write to say they believe Mrs. Maybrick was guilty. Their mistaken im-pressions of the evidence have been corrected.— (Page 4.)
- Savage animals belonging to Bostock's Mena-gerie terrified the passengers during the voyage of the Minnetonka from New York to Tilbury. A leopard broke loose, and many of the other wild beasts got out of control.—(Page 4.)
- The deadly Colorado potato beetle has been bund in Hereford.—(Page 4.)
- The Princess de Chimay, now in London, in dignantly denies she has married a red-nose Dutchman. Her latest husband is an Italian statum master, "a model of manly beauty."—(Page 3.)

Interesting light is thrown on Sir Charles Eliot's sensational resignation of the post of High Commissioner for East Africa by the correspondence between the Proconsul and Lord Lansdowne.—(Page 4.)

Captain Deasy, back in London, described his sensational motor tour in the Alps and his thrilling escape from death to a Mirror representative.—(Page 13.)

- The advisability of licensing servants' registry offices and employment agencies will be considered by the London County Council this afternoon.—(Page 5.)
- Officers of the German fleet now at Plymouth were upset that no one yesterday visited their men-of-war. The Devonians did not know they had been invited to do so.—(Page 3.)
- Though the cool breeze kept the shade temperature reasonable yesterday the thermometer registered 126 in the sun.—(Page 3.)

LAW AND CRIME.

- Charged with the murder of his employer, Councillor Lowes, of Durham, the apprentice, Robert John Allen, made a terrible confession of a fight with an iron bar.—(Page 5.)
- Eight marriages, including those of an actor, sailor, and a soldier, were dissolved in two hou by Mr. Justice Barnes.—(Page 5.)
- For leaving hotels with bills unpaid Adelaide Gifford, who had posed as the Hon. Mrs. Gifford, was charged at Bow-street, and remanded, bail being granted in two sureties of £250 each.— (Page 5.)
- Judge Addison, of the Southwark County Court, intends to do his best to stamp out the evil of moneylenders' women touts in poor districts.—

- Percy Perrin and the Rev. F. H. Gillingham both scored centuries for Essex against Middlesex at Lord's. Scoring was heavy in all matches but those at Tunbridge Wells and Birmingham.— (Page 15.)
- The Newmarket Second July Meeting com-mences to-day. Prior to racing the bloodstock sales will take place.—(Page 14.)

It takes up only a very little corner of your vest pocket-always clean and ready for you wherever you may be when you want it-in the office, at home, on the train-anywhere.

The "Daily Mirror" is being advertised by the sale of a HALF-A-CROWN.

made of the best vulcanite, exquisitely chased; with two neatly engraved bands, fed with a twin feed, packed in box with glass and rubber ink-filler, with full directions for use.

The "DAILY MIRROR" FOUNTAIN PEN in 3 sizes of Pen Nibs, FINE, MEDIUM, BROAD. State Plainly on Coupon which style you prefer.

> PEN DEPARTMENT, The "Daily Mirror,"

SEND SIXPENCE MORE and we will also send you a PEN POCKET CASE. You may purchase the pen at the West End Office for Small Advertisements of the "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond Street, W.

CUT OUT THIS COUPON, fill in, and post to

I enclose P.O. for 2s. 72d., for which please send "D.M." Fountain Pen to ADDRESS.....

2, Carmelite Street, London, E.C.

You certainly know the inestimable value of a perfect Fountain Pen for dignantly denies she has married a red-nosed Dutchman. Her latest husband is an Italian station-master, "a model of manly beauty."—(Page 3.)

Sir William Trebar and a deputation were promised by the Thames Conservancy that the racing for iver steamers would be put a stop to.—(Page 5.)

£100

GIVEN AWAY BY . .

ANSWERS

PHYSICAL CULTURE CONTEST.

Full Particulars in

"ANSWERS"

TO-DAY

HOUSES AND PROPERTIES.

"FREE TICKETS TO VIEW."
HILBERY PARK ESTATE,
CANVEY-ON-SEA, ESSEX.

- W. B. HESTER has received instructions

  * from the Vendor to SEELI in the WINTER GARDIESS

  E ROOM, on WEDINESDAY and THURSDAY NEXT, clock tham, 100 Poles of FREEMOLD WILLDAY

  Poles of Free William

  Poles of Free William

  Poles of Free William

  F

- Futher particular, Auctioner, 148, Februart-8, E.C.

  EVERY PLOT SOLD ON THE FIRST AND SECOND SECTIONS.

  TWO SUCCESSFUL SALES HELD ON THE THEB
  THE PLOT SECOND SECON

EACH Quarter's Rent paid by you may be made a step towards ownership. If this seems desirable to you send a p.c. for further particulars to W. W. Benham, Esq., 72. Bishopsate-st Without, London, E.C. Men-tion "Daily Mirror."

FURNISHED FLAT; 3 rooms; gas, water; quiet; 12s. 6d.; also large bed-sittingroom. 35. Guildford-rd. Swan,

Land, Houses, Etc., for Sale

EDUCATIONAL.

CHATHAM HOUSE COLLEGE, Ramsgate:—Foraded 94 years.—High-class school, for the sons of, gentlemen; Army, professions, and commercial life; cade oorps stached bogs under 13; 48-page illustrated prespectus sent on application to the Beach natser.

BUSINESSES FOR SALE & WANTED.

- - Other Small Advertisements appear on page 16.

VICTIMS OF THE HEAT WAVE.

The Abnormal Temperature Causes Many Deaths.

126 IN THE SUN.

Underground Railways a Stifling Inferno, But Cool Breezes

in the Streets.

MAXIMUM TEMPERATURE YESTERDAY. 80deg.

Although Saturday was the hottest day of the present year, a higher temperature was yesterday recorded in the sun.

It was only the cool breeze that made London bearable, and kept the shade temperature within reasonable bounds

Messrs. Negretti and Zambra supply the follow ing interesting statistics of the maximum solar temperatures during each of the past seven days:
 Tuesday
 79 deg.
 Saturday
 120 deg.

 Wednesday
 120 deg.
 Sunday
 128 deg.

 Thursday
 84 deg.
 Yesterday
 126 deg.

 Friday
 122 deg.
 126 deg.

A continuance of yesterday's burning sun and cooling breeze are promised for to-day.

There are, however, signs of local disturbance in the Bay of Biscay which may lead to a violent thunderstorm within the next day or two.

LOOKING FOR COOL CORNERS.

In the meantime, it is interesting to find that London has a few cool corners, as a Mirror reporter, who was armed with a thermometer supplied by a well-known firm, yesterday discovered.

A start was made at mid-day for Blackfriars Station. On the pavement the thermometer had registered 76 deg., but after ten minutes had been spent below it reached 85 deg. In another five minutes it was hovering between 87 deg. and 88 deg.

In the transept of St. Paul's Cathedral it reached

In the transept of 3d. Faut's Cathedral it reached 68 deg.—dis lowest point for the day. In the Post Office tube station it marked 70 deg.

At Moorgate-street Station, on the Metropolitan line, the temperature was 78 deg., but during a wait at Gower-street the nimble mercury mounted to 84 deg.

OMNIBUS TEMPERATURES.

OMNIBUS TEMPERATURES.

During an omnibus ride—inside, and on the shady side—to Camden Town and back to Oxford-circus, the glass showed 80 deg.

Down in the Tube again at Oxford-circus, where the temperature was 71 deg. Then another omnibus ride to the Bank, inside the vehicle, and on the sunny side. At its completion the glass showed only 92 deg., but it felt hotter than that.

In the smoking-room of a tea-shop it was 79 deg., and under the shade of the trees in St. Paul's Churchyard only 75 deg.

WITHIN THE RADIUS.

Heat Belt Encircling the Thames and Severn Valleys.

The striking feature of the present spell of hot weather is that with light winds from the east, south-east, and north-east, and with almost cloudless skies, England boasts a heat-belt.

From the mouth of the Thames away to the West, where the Severn flows into the Bristol Channel, lies a great heat zone, in which during channer, nes a great next rone, in wanca, ourng the past few days the maximum shade temperature has been at least 3 degrees more than elsewhere.

There may be isolated spots where comparative coolness reigns, even in this sweltering region, but, generally speaking, the people of London, Oxford, Bath, and Weston-super-Mare fare alike as regards temperature.

Bath, and weston-super-naire tare anke as regards temperature.

Along the South Coast, from Land's End to Brighton, is the next hottest region. Near the sea high temperatures are easier to bear than inland, but with winds from the east and north-east, blowing that is, off the land, the South Coast can be very warm indeed.

Allens TO BE DEALT WITH.

Brighton, is the next hottest region. Near the sea high temperatures are easier to bear than inland, but with winds from the east and north-east, blowing that is, off the land, the South Coast can be very warm indeed.

TURNING THE CORNER.

The moment you turn the south-east corner of England, and the brezer comes of the sea, you feel cooler. A glance at the map on page I will show that eastwards from Brighton along the coast a cooler line is entered; and this continues right up the coast line.

A comparison of this with the western coasts will at once reveal the fact that it was only the presence of the sea that protected Liverpool and Pembroke from suffering like London.

North of the great heat-belt, across the Midlands, the maximum shade temperature is less by nearly eight degrees.

Those to whom a few degrees make all the difference between torture and comfort are recommended to betake themselves to the East Coast. Yarmouth, Lowestoft, and Cromer are probably the most comfortable parts of the country just now.

GREAT DEMAND FOR ICE.

There is an enormous demand for iced drinks. Huge bowls of claret cup and iced "gin and ginger-beer" are most popular at City restaurants. Iced coffee is supplied at a few of the old-fashioned refreshment bars.

The demand for artificial and natural ice is so great that the merchants have the greatest difficulty in executing the orders.

HOW TO KEEP COOL.

Several Harley-street specialists yesterday an-wered the important question of "How to keep cool." Each echoed the other's advice—"Dress in clothes made of light woollen majerials and avoid cotton underclothing."

Light foods, saline drinks, loose collars, and light and broad-brimmed hats will go a long way towards warding off heat apoplexy in persons pre-dispased to attacks.

The best of all remedies is to get away from the hurry and bustle of City life, and the broiling surface of the wood pavements, to cool pine forests or breezy seaside resorts.

VICTIMS OF THE HEAT.

Increasing Death Roll-Fires and Drought

The number of heat seizures is increasing every day. Yesterday morning no less than three deaths attributable to heat were reported to the Lancaster

At Worcester a Norfolk printer, named Chapman, who was on a visit to the town, jumped from an attic window after complaining of the heat. The resultant injuries proved fatal.

On Saturday a stockman, named Charles Little, died suddenly in the fields at Mountnessing, in Essex, as a result of the heat.

Essex, as a result of the neat.

The Rev. Mr. Sweetenham, Protestant curate of Tramore, while walking his bicycle up a hill yesterday afternoon, suddenly fell down dead.

The week-end bathing fatalities have proved exceedingly numerous. Most of them were youths or young men, as the following list shows:—

Truro	John Holloway (14)
Blackpool	Edgar Hulme (17)
Walton-le-Dale	John Parker (17)
Chippenham	Ernest Darling (22)
Chesterfield	Henry Shaw (18)
Bedworth	Bertie Morson (17)
. Christchurch	Ernest Elliott (boy)
Coseley	James Elwell (boy)
Bally Castle	Taggart (17)

Several fires have occurred during the past few days owing, it is supposed, to the rays of the sum being focussed through pieces of glass and igniting the grass.

FIRE AT NEWMARKET.

One such fire broke out yesterday near Stanley House, Newmarket, but was fortunately extinguished before any serious damage was done Yesterday was the hottest day of the year at Leeds, the thermometer showing 83deg. The haltess brigade has been completely disconcerted by the heat, and no hatless men are now seen in the streets.

the streets.

The Margate influx is daily increasing, and at a moderate estimate the visitors number 20,000.

The glass showed 85deg, at Liverpool yesterday, this being the hottest 4ay of the year.

THREE CHILDREN DROWNED.

A telegram from Boness reports that three children named, respectively, Robert Blair, four; william Forbes, six; Maggie Forbes, four; were drowned within a few yards of the shore at Bridge-drowned within a Iew yards of the shore at Bridgeness yesterday afternoon.

They had gone down to the beach unattended, and, haunching a punt, drifted out. Taking fright they scrambled out of the boat and were drowned. The body of Blair was seen floating, and was recovered. The clothing of the other children was found in the boat, but there was no trace of the bodies.

ALIENS TO BE DEALT WITH.

KILLED BY AN OAR.

Rash Officer in a Terrible Predicament.

VERDICT OF MANSLAUGHTER.

"Manslaughter under great provocation."

This was the verdict returned last evening as the result of a coroner's inquiry into the extra ordinary affair on the River Ouse near Bedford on Saturday, when a boy named Sydney Oakens was accidentally killed by Captain Ormonde Winter, of the Royal Field Artillery.

The evidence showed that Captain Winter and

The evidence showed that Captain Winter and another pupil at a military school at Bedford went boating to Kempston on Saturday.

They left the boat at the mill, and while they were absent some boys took possession and went for a row. On returning and finding Captain Winter waiting, they rowed to the other side of the river, another boy bringing the boat back. Captain Winter then rowed off with the shoes of two of the boys, who, with others, followed for a quarter of a mile, pelting the boat all the way. At length Captain Winter landed, carrying a sculf, which he swing round to drive back the boys, who were advancing on him.

Oakens wan in front, and, as he stooped to avoid the scull, it caught him on the neck, fracturing the base of the skull, causing instant death.

Captain Winter was overwhelmed with grief, and subsequently sent a sympathetic letter to the parents, offering to pay the funeral expenses.

One boy-wintess admitted that Captain Winter did not mean to hurt the boy, but only to drive him back.

Captain Winter, who was present at the inquest, but did not offer himself as a witness, be heard.

him back.
Captain Winter, who was present at the inquest, but did not offer himself as a witness, has been released on bail. He will appear at the police-court

THE SILENT WAR.

Profound Secrecy Preserved by Both Combatants.

What exactly is going on in the East? Not even the experts can tell. On both sides the position is evidently felt to be so critical that information is being withheld by design.

The Japanese only report achieved successes in the briefest and most laconic way, while Russian official dispatches are filled with numerous un-intelligible names of places not to be found on intelligible names of places not to be found on any map.

Marchings and counter-marchings are painfully recorded, but no definite results are announced, beyond gradual retirements before the Japanese, and occasionally the casual killing of a Cossack.

At present the position appears to be that General Oku is advancing from Kniping along both sides of the railway towards Newchwang, General Kuropatkin and General Stackelberg are believed to be near that place, but General Nocual from the east, and General Kurohid from the northeast, appear to be in a position to descend at any moment on the railway and cut General Kuropatkin's communications in his rear.

To add to General Kuropatkin's danger, it is believed he is greatly hampered by floods in the vicinity of the railway, and his only hope is to try and stave off the Japanese advance until the real rainy season sets in and temporarily suspends operations.

PORT ARTHUR SIEGE.

From midnight on Sunday until three o'clock yesterday morning heavy firing was heard at Port Arthur.

On July 8 the Russians admit having had over 1,700 casualties, and many more are to come.

One Russian correspondent says that the Russian losses "strike at the hearts of our country men."

General Sakharoff says in the fighting before
Kaiping the Russians had 200 killed and wounded.
Heavy rains have flooded Liao-yang during the last ten days, and the streets and squares are transformed into lakes, while the roads are like

RUSSIA COMPLAINS OF ATTACHES.

PARIS, Monday.

A telegram from Berne to the "Temps" says Colonel Andeoud and Captain Barbet, the Swiss military attaches with the Russians in Manchuria, have been recalled at the request of the Russian Government.

The colonel is stated to have made remarks at Liao-yang which were considered offensive to the Russian Army. This news has caused a profound sensation, as Colonel Andeoud is known as an officer of great discretion.—Reuter.

REAL SARDINES ONCE MORE.

Paris, Monday, Sardines have reappeared in large shoals on the coast of Brittany, to the great joy of the fishermen, who feared, after last year's scarcity, that the fish had gone for ever. -Laffan.

PRINCESS'S ROMANCE.

Married to an Apollo-like Station-Master.

MODEL OF MANLY BEAUTY.

The Princess de Chimay, who is now in London, is hurt at the newspaper story from Paris that her latest lover is a red-nosed Dutchman, named Hoop. Such an imputation she regards as most offensive—as a libel on her good taste. Was it for such a horror in masculine shape that she deserted her husband, and left the fine-looking Hungarian, Rigo?

The Princess, in repudiation of this scandalous tale, lets out the truth of her last romance.

It is not this horrible Dutchman, she says, whom she has married, but an Italian gentleman, Signor Ricciardi, of Naples. He is twenty-five years old, and "about the most divine model of manly beauty even an artist could desire."

manly beauty even an artist could desire."

He and the Princess were married three weeks ago. The happy husband was formerly station-master at Vesuvius, where the Princess met him. The Princess, it is interesting to note, is in London on a very delicate mission. She is undergoing a course of beauty culture at the hands of an experiences artist, Madame de Medici, of 120, Bond-street.

THE GERMAN ARMADA.

Why the Admiral Was Disappointed with Devonport.

Through English "enterprise" not being equal to the German the officers of the German fleet stationed in Plymouth Harbour were disappointed vesterday.

It appears that Admiral von Koester had toldoff a number of officers to show any English visitors who might care to visit the ships over visitors who might care to visit the ships over them. But no invitation to visitors was made public, and consequently, although hundreds of boats put off and rowed and steamed round the German war vessels, no one attempted to set foot on them.

The German officers were upset by what they took for aloofness on the part of the English. Had visitors called uninvited—as the German fleet is doing at Plymouth—all would have doubtless been well.

GERMAN OFFICERS INSPECT DOCKYARD

However, the Admiral's desire that any visitors should be welcomed has now been made known, and this little drawback to the fleet's happiness will should be welcomed has now been made known, and this little drawback to the fleet's happiness will probably be removed. Yesterday morning Admiral von Koester paid official visits to the Mayors of Plymouth and Devonport, and the chairman of the Stonehouse District Council. These over he and 150 officers proceeded to the official residence of Rear-Admiral W. H. Henderson, the Superintendent of Devonport Dockyard, where they were received by that officer and Admiral Sir E. H. Seymour.

Then, conducted by a number of English naval officers, they were shown over the dockyard, where they saw the battleships Hibernia and King Edward VII. They inspected some naval cadets at work, and going up the harbour in launches saw the Defiance, torpedo school ship.

In the afternoon they visited Mount Edgeumbe, the beautiful home of the Earl of Mount Edgeumbe, and in the evening Admirals Seymour and Henderson entertained the visitors at dinner.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S ADVICE.

Replying to a correspondent, who asked Mr. Chamberlain whether he could vote for a Unionist candidate, seeing that he was unable to support either Mr. Chamberlain's or Mr. Balfour's fiscal policy.

Mr. Chamberlain says he sees no inconsistency in a gentleman who expresses such opinions voting for a Unionist candidate.

"It has never been expected of anyone," adds the right hon, gentleman, "that he should be in entire agreement with every item of a party policy," but he does not think that many Unionists share his correspondent's views.

Mr. Chamberlain was entertained at lunch at the Constitutional Club yesterday by Mr. Alfred Moseley, C.M.G., to meet Mr. Donald MacMaster, the leader of the Canadian Bar, and Principal Peterson, of McGill University, Montreal.

ANARCHISTS AND LORD MILNER.

JOHANNESBURG, Monday.

As the result of the investigation of the alleged plot against Lord Milner, in connection with which three supposed Anarchists were arrested last month, one of the men has been deported.—Reuter.

For driving a motor-car to the common danger at Croydon, George Alexander, of Cromwell-road, S.W., was fined £5 and £3 13s. costs.

THE WORLD

Readers Who Believe Mrs. Maybrick Was Guilty.

POINTS NOT UNDERSTOOD.

Every post brings to the Mirror office letters on the Maybrick case. Correspondents are by no means all of one mind.

Many candidly assert their belief in Mrs. Maybrick's guilt; a fair proportion are disposed to give her the benefit of the admitted doubt; and the rest agree with the late Lord Russell of Killowen in declaring for her innocence.

Newspaper readers belonging to the younger generation, who know nothing of the great poisoning trial, express the wish that the whole story will

Some of their seniors, too, who have forgotter much of the evidence, write to say they would greatly like to read the trial again.

The letters published to-day are mostly hostile, and we have been obliged to correct certain mistaken impressions of the evidence.

Mistake About the Flypapers.

My recollection of the extraordinary Maybrick case is still quite vivid. There was overwhelming circumstantial evidence against the prisoner.

What about the arsenic in solution found in the meat juice? It was proved that this was ex-tracted from the flypapers, which, she said, she bought for the purpose of preparing a cosme THOMAS MCANN.

[The analysts stated that the arsenic could not have been taken from the flypapers, inasmuch as no fibres of the paper were found by microscopic inspection. These fibres must have been present in arsenic obtained from flypapers by soaking.—ED. Daily Mirror.]

Mrs. Maybrick's Twenty-four Hours' Swoon

In your Maybrick articles you have not yet made any reference to the fact that Mrs. Maybrick was guilty of misconduct with a certain Mr. Briefley. Her Judge found a motive for murder in this infidelity.

So do I, and so will thousands more. She wished to get her husband out of the way, and neglected him in his last illness.

Bromley.

Christian Woman.

[Mrs. Maybrick was her husband's constant nurse till she was deposed by orders of her husband better. When her husband died, she lay in a speechless swoon for twenty-four hours. Would a callous, plotting nurderess have been so overcome?—Ed. Daily Mirror.]

The "Sick Unto Death" Letter.

The "Sick Unto Death" Letter.

The damning point against Mrs. Maybrick was that she was carrying on with a lover, to whom she wrote a letter asking him not to leave the country, as nothing had been discovered, and her husband "was sick unto death."

If that did not mean she was poisoning him, and that he would soon be out of the way, with every prospect of her being able to join her lover, what on earth did it mean?

I have no desire to unduly punish a woman, or to prevent her beginning life again with as clean a record as can possibly be established for her, but I do object to efforts being made to prove that she is "as pure as snow." That was tried fifteen years ago, without success.

Harlesden.

[The fact remains that sufficient arsenic was not found in the body of James Maybrick to account for his death from that cause.—Ed. Daily Mirror.]

The First Suspicion.

Arsenic was found in James Maybrick's stomach after death. Who gave it to him, if it was not Mrs. Maybrick? Why was it that Alice Yapp said, "Mistress is poisoning master and has fly-papers "?

Servant girls may occasionally talk and act indis creetly, but they do not surely go so far as to pu up a charge of murder against their mistresses with out good reason.

-[Arsenic was not found in the deceased's stomach, but in his liver. Four years previously there was a case in Liverpool of poisoning by extracting arsenic from flypapers. Alice Yapp may have been thinking of it.—ED. Daily Mirror.]

A Reasonable Request.

As one who was not reading criminal trials in 1889, I am at once interested and puzzled by these articles about Lord Russell's battle for Mrs. Maybrick.

I would like to read a full account of the case that created such a stir in the country fifteen years ago.

YOUNGER GENERATION.

ago. Chelsea

CHASED BY A LEOPARD.

a. Liner.

The crew of the Minnetonka steamship, which arrived at Tilbury yesterday, have an exciting tale to tell of their outward voyage to New York.

Besides some 150 passengers, there were board sixty wild beasts, belonging to Bostock, the showman, of Coney Island.

It was the hyanas who began the trouble," one It was the hyennas who began the trouble," one of the crew told a Mirror representative. "Two of these beasts were in a cage with an enormous black bear, and about 12 o'clock one night they got up a fight.

"The lions roared, elephants trumpeted, and soon every passenger in the ship was awake listening to the fearful din." Five keepers hurried to the scene, carrying iron bars. Two keepers took a hyenna each, leaving three to the bear. After a struggle lasting about half an hour, the bear was separated from his companions and put in a cage by himself.

Boy's Plucky Act.

Boy's Plucky Act.

"Excited by the noise, one of the leopards them managed to break loose. Nobody spotted him for a time, and then a steward suddenly fled yelling, with the leopard in hot pursuit. Several keepers dared not tackle him, but a lad of seventeen, whose particular charge this leopard was, with a red-hot bar struck the brute heavily across the shoulders, and at the same time he ordered it, in a loud voice, to return to its cage.

"For a moment everyone held their breath, expecting to see the lad sprung upon. The leopard hesitated, growled angrily, and then, much to everyone's relief, turned tail, and slunk away like a dog to its kennel.

"Another day a little girl, who was being shown round the cages, got too close to this same leopard, and was clawed by the shoulder. Before the terrified man who was with her could get help, practically every shred of clothing had been torn off her back, and her thigh gashed to the knee.

She was taken to hospital, but what happened to her we never heard."

POTATO SCOURGE IN ENGLAND.

Deadly Colorado Beetle Found in Herefordshire.

Potato growers and others interested in agriculture are alarmed by the reported appearance of the dreaded Colorado beetle in Hereford.

How the scare began forms a curious story. The other day a lady called at the Free Library at Hereford and asked to see the librarian.

That gentleman being at lunch, the library boy asked her to explain her business. She thereupon took from her pocket a small packet and left it, explaining she had found two Colorado beetles. The librarian sent them to the authorities, and subsequent examination showed that one beetle was dead and the other alive, but the alarming fact about the living specimen was that it was quite a young one—recently hatched.

It may be, of course, that the lady has played a practical joke on the librarian, but this lady is wanted.

wanted.

It is all important that the authorities should know where she obtained these pests from, and every effort is being made to trace her.

Under a special Act of Parliament designed to exterminate this pest, it is important to remember that if a beetle is taken alive it must be immediately killed under a penalty of £10.

The finder is salso bound to inform a policeman, who has to communicate with the local authority, which has to apprise the Board of Agriculture by telegraph. Scientists and experts are immediately to be dispatched to the scene of the capture, and strenuous efforts made to blot out the pest.

PRINCE IN AN OBSOLETE HAT.

People are wondering why the Prince of Wales wore a white "top-hat" at the Orphanage Fund garden party on Friday. Such hats have long been accounted obsolete. It is a relic of mid-Victorian Derby days. But, although royally has privileges, it is not probable that the white top-hat will again become fashionable.

"White bowler hats are popular because they are light and do not attract the sun," said the manager of a firm of hatters yesterday. "But the white top-hat is heavy and uncomfortable. We have practically no demand for them,"

OPENING OF BISLEY RIFLE MEETING.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

Thus early in the meeting there is little to chronicle of interest, but men in camp are looking forward to the decision of the council in regard to the Palma Trophy, which has been returned to Great Britain by the United States. The council will take the matter into consideration to-morrow. At half-past five shooting commenced for the Waldegrave, open to all comers with match rifles. The light was good, and some excellent shooting was witnessed.

was witnessed.

Two lady rifle shots will take part in some of the

KING'S NARROW ESCAPE.

AND A WOMAN. Savage Animals Run Wild on Thrilling Possibilities of the Bath Road Motor Outrage.

On the charge of placing a wire across the Great Bath-road with the intention of injuring Mr. Part-ridge, of the Automobile Club, a labourer named William Austin, of Chippenham, was committed for trial by the Beaconsfield magistrates yesterday.

Mr. G. H. Charsley, who prosecuted on behalf

Mr. G. H. Charsley, who prosecuted on behalf of the Crown, mentioned a thrilling possibility of the attempt. "On this particular Sunday," he told the Bench, "the King, who was accompanied by the Queen, the Prime Minister, and others, went at night to visit Taplow Court from Windsor, and they returned along the Bath-road. I do not sugesst that the prisoner knew anything about this, but mention it to show what a terrible calamity might have happened."

Mr. Partridge, who is a young engineer, told the story of his escape. "Two or three hundred yards past the Two Mile Brook," ran his evidence, "I suddenly saw by the reflection of my lamps a wire stretched across the road. It was a very dark night, and this suddenly flashed on me. I was travelling slowly—about ten or eleven miles an hour—with my foot on the brake. As the wire loomed up I instinctively threw out my hand in self-protection against the wire. There was sufficient sag on the wire to enable me to press it down below the steering wheel. Then there was a smack, the steering wheel was strained, and I saw the wire curl up over the road.

KAISER'S NEW YACHT.

H.I.M. Wants a Faster Racing Boat than He Has Owned Yet.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

The new yacht which Kaiser Wilhelm has ordered in this country is to be built by Herreshoff, and will call forth the famous designer's biggest efforts.

biggest efforts.

It was he who was responsible for the Ingomar, which beat the Kaiser's Meteor III. Now the Imperial request is for a boat that will be faster than the Ingomar.

In fact, Meteor IV., if the Emperor has his way, will be one of the very speediest racers afloat.

COSMOPOLITAN CHILD.

How "T. P." Solved a Perplexing Problem

Problem.

To-day the most cosmopolitan Irishman in the world celebrates his third birthday by giving a tea-party to his Angle-Saxon friends. The infant in question is known in London musical and artistic circles as "T. P.'s Irishman."

When Camillo di Righini, the charming child of an equally charming mother—Madame Ella Russell—was born, his parents were in great doubt as to his nationality, for he first saw daylight in no land, and was connected by ancestry and birth with no fewer than nine countries.

Little Camillo was born two days out from New York, on the Konigin Louise, under the German flag. His mother was an American, his father, the Count di Righini, a pure Italian.

On her father's side, Madame Ella Russell's grandfather was Irish and her grandmother Scotch, whereas her maternal grandfather was Welsh and her maternal grandmother Austrian.

To add to these complications, Camillo's birth was registered, according to law, at the first port of call, which happened to be Chebourg, France, and the child was first taken ashore at Southampton.

What was the nationality of this little Italian.

ton.

What was the nationality of this little Italian-American - Irish - Scotch - Welsh - Austrian - German-French-English infant?

This profound problem for a long time perplexed all Madame Russell's friends and acquaintances, until the singer at last had the good fortune to consult Mr. T. P. O'Connor, who without a moment's hesitation pronounced the verdict, "Why, av coorse, he's a son of Ould Oireland!"

A portrait of this interesting child appears on page 8.

MAJORITY REDUCED TO 41.

MAJORITY REDUCED TO 41.

On the Licensing Bill in Committee in the House of Commons last night a short discussion was raised on the principle of the time-limit, Sir William Houldworth moving from the Unionist side an amendment which would limit full compensation to fourteen years and permit modified compensation thereafter.

It was with the "profoundest regret" that Mr. Ballour felt compelled to decline this proposal on the ground that it was impractical and would mar the scheme of the Bill.

Thirty Unionists went into the lobby against the Government, and the Irishmen for once "whipped" for the amendment and gave the Opposition forty votes. Five Nationalists voted with the Government, and the majority was brought down to forty-one, as compared with fifty-five when the question was raised before.

At 12.30 progress was reported.

FOREIGN OFFICE SCANDAL.

Pro-Consul's Quarrel with Lord Lansdowne.

SPIRITED CORRESPONDENCE

It will be remembered how a few weeks ago a sensation was caused by the resignation of Sir Charles Eliot, one of the ablest of England's Colonial representatives.

Sir Charles threw up his position as High Commissioner for East Africa on account of a disagree-ment with the Marquis of Lansdowne, the dispute ment with the Marquis of Lansdowne, the dispute arising over the concession of 500 square miles of the Protectorate to the East African Syndicate. This tract belonged to the Masai tribe.

Sir Charles objected to the concession being made, while, on the other hand, Lord Lansdowne raised difficulties to a concession of fifty or a hundred miles, which Sir Charles had promised to Messus. Chamberlain and Flemmer. Sir Charles alleges inane favouritism of the syndicate, and complains that difficulties were placed in the way of white immigrant settlers seeking grants of land.

In his letter announcing his resignation, Sir Charles submits it is impossible for the Commissioner to perform his task properly if the opinions of officers on leave are sent out to him in the form of orders.

Frank Views on Natives' Rights.

form of orders.

Frank Views on Natives' Rights.

Sir Charles says he does not believe in paying an exaggerated respect to native rights and claims, and in a dispatch, dated last April, observes:—

"Your lordship has opened this Protectorate to white immigration and colonisation, and I think it is well that in confidential correspondence at least we should face the undoubted issue—viz, that white mates black in a very few moves. In spite of all Mr. Jackson's memoranda and all Mr. Wason's questions, there can be no doubt that the Masai and many other tribes must go under. It is a prospect which I view with equanimity and a clear conscience.

"I wish to protect individual Masais, and would go further than your lordship might consider convenient in the way of punishing Europeans who illtreat natives, but I have no desire to protect Masaidom. It is a beastly bloody system, founded on raiding and immorality, disastrous to both the Masai and their neighbours. The sooner it disappears and is unknown except in books of anthropology the better."

Lord Lansdowne, on his side, maintains that no favour has been shown to anybody in regard to land concessions, and that the subordinates whom he consulted were experts in regard to native affairs, who had been highly praised by Sir Charles himself.

On receiving this dispatch Sir Charles Eliot telegraphed to Lord Lansdowne: "I regret that I am unable to allow the incident to be closed in this way, and feel compelled to appeal to the public. I will leave by the earliest convenient steumer."

PUZZLED SALOPIANS.

Oswestry Dazed with Tariff Reform and Chinese Labour.

The Liberals have enrolled three powerful motorcars for the vacant Oswestry seat. The cars gaily decked with red rosettes and ribbons attracted a good deal of attention in Oswestry and Shrewsbury yesterday. So far the Tories have not brought any ears into action.

The local rustics are being fusilladed daily with pamphlets containing columns of figures, which cause their eyes to dilate to an abnormal extent in cause their eyes to dilate to an abnormal extent in endeavouring to grasp the situation. The Boer War, Chinese Labour, the Education Act, the Alten Bill, the Tax on Bread, and Oppressive Landlords are a few of the questions dealt with.

Groups of the bucolic inhabitants of the county districts may be seen sitting on stiles and gates reading the circulars. Some wonder if Tariff Reform is a new diet for fattening cattle, while others want to know when they are to get the Free Food. Mr. Bridgeman, the Conservative candidate, and Mr. Bright, the contestant for the Liberals, are stumping the country with their agents, delivering speeches everywhere and promising all kinds of good things for the people at large. Exciting scenes are expected in Oswestry to-morrow, which is market day, when the local farmers come into the town looking for argument, Local Liberal papers are printing columns about the corn law days of sixty years ago, and what they think about Mr. Chamberlain and his supporters.

INTERNATIONAL BOWLS.

In the international bowling matches at Glasgow yesterday England defeated Wales by 104 points to fall. The rink stores were:—England: Dr. W. G. Grace 25, Robertson 25, Telford 24, and Johnson 20—total 104; Wales: Pollock 8, Mattock 18, Davies 19, and Thomas 16—total 61.

OUICK DIVORCES.

Matrimonial Troubles of Actor, Sailor, and Soldier.

EIGHT IN TWO HOURS.

At the average rate of one every quarter of an hour, Mr. Justice Barnes put an end to eight marriages after luncheon yesterday afternoon

The first interesting petitioner to go into the witness-box was a young man with a pale, intellectual face, long hair, a large tie, and much display of cuffs. Counsel's first question-"You are an actor?"—seemed to be superfluous.

Not only is Mr. Thomas Ernest Flint Heslewood an actor, but in 1899 he chose his wife from that profession also. He introduced her to his friends, theatrical and otherwise, and their married life proceeded smoothly and seemed to be all that could be

About a year after the marriage he brought a young friend of his, named Muspratt, to his home, and his wife courteously made the visitor welcome. Thus Mr. Muspratt became a friend of the family.

That he was a friend to the husband in adversity

I mat he was a friend to the husband in adversity as, well as in prosperity was shown in the year 1903 in the following remarkable way:—

Mrs. Heslewood one evening announced that she was going to pay a visit to a friend at whose house, she said, she might have to stop the night. So Mr. Heslewood was not anxious when the next day found her still away. Several days, however, passed without her returning, and then her husband became very perplexed and worried.

False Friend's Duplicity.

It was then that Mr. Muspratt showed his friend-ship. He came round to Mr. Heslewood's house in Kensington, and made various suggestions for tracing the lost one, and in other ways showed great sympathy.

Mr. Heslewood's disgust was almost equal to his sympathy.

Mr. Heslewood's disgust was almost equal to his surprise when some time afterwards he discovered that it was this very Mr. Muspratt, who had been so kind with his advice, who had been the instigator of Mrs. Heslewood's going away. He had had the lady under his protection all the time he was suggesting clues and sympathising!

A decree nisi was granted to Mr. Heslewood, Mr. Muspratt being co-respondent.

Quite a breeze of story-book nautical romance blew through the stuffy Court when a blue-jacket whom his friends called "Jack" went into the witness-box to testify against his spouse "Polly," But the "Jack" and "Polly" in question, in spite of the correctness of their names, reversed the conventional order of things in the matter of fidelity to one another.

Jack it was who had "stuck to" Polly, while the latter had failed in her allegiance to poor Jack.

Jack sailed away shortly after his marriage in 1909, and for three years he was on active service, vinning a medal in South Africa. Through two summers and winters Polly was true to him, and then a tragedy happened which she afterwards bitterly regretted.

Passionate Plea for Forgiveness.

Passionate Plea for Forgiveness.

Passionate Pies for Forgiveness.

"Dear Jack," she wrote, breaking the sad news to him, "I know you have noticed a difference in my letters since last June. I kept myself as faithful to you during the first two years as any woman could. Then I was oh, so foolish, and I yielded . . When I used to write to you I used to have two or three tries because I knew I had done wrong. I hope you will forgive me for little Rosa's sake, as I don't want to rob her of a good father . . . But, Jack, I hope you will forgive me, your has-been-unfaithful Polly, but-hope-to-remain-your-loving-wife, Polly," your-loving-wife, Polly.

your-loving-wife, Polly."

In spite of Polly's hopes Jack felt obliged to ask for a decree—which he got—and poor Polly has no husband now to kiss the tears away. Very soon after Jack had vacated the witness-box it was occupied by a representative of the sister service, Frank Henry Chamberlain, now a reservist, and formerly a private in a line regiment.

Standing at attention, Chamberlain described how he paid a surprise visit to the house where his wife was living while he was quartered away in barracks. There was a whistle outside the window as he was sitting with his wife, and then a smash, and a man's fist came through the window.

"I don't know who it sig," said Mrs. Chamberlain, "they are always annoying me in that way."

Detected by a Ruse.

When Chamberlain paid another visit to his wife he pretended to be intoxicated, and went up-stairs to lie down. On returning to the sitting-room he found another man there with Mrs. Chamberlain. Chamberlain pretended to go to Chamberlain. Chamberlain pretended to go to sleep in a chair.

But what he saw when he got up and followed the two into another room on tiptoe caused him not only to thrash the other man but also, he somewhat shamefacedly told the Court, to chastise his wife.

He was granted a decree aisi.

PITFALLS FOR GIRLS.

Proposed Reform of London Registry Offices.

A crying need-the protection of young women and girls seeking employment in London-will to-day be considered by the London County Council, when it formally receives the report of its Public Control Committee on servants offices and employment agencies in the Metropolis Several important proposals are contained in this report, the most notable of which is that the County Council should inaugurate a system of County Council should inaugurate a system of licensing registry offices and employment agencies. That there is great need for some such system is shown by the reports of the National Viligance Society and the various philanthropic societies for the protection and aid of young women. The secretary of one of these latter societies speaking yesterday on the subject enthusiastically welcomed the prospect of registry office reform. "There are, of course," she explained, "a large number of reputable employment agencies; but, on the other hand, there are many whose least sin is that they defraud mistresses and maids of fees by supplying neither servants nor places. "We and other similar societies do our best to keep young girls coming from the country out of the clutches of these bogus agencies, and the National Viligance Society, by keeping matrons at all the railway stations, does a great work."

Checking White Slave Traffic.

That one very terrible aspect of the question is recognised by the committee is shown by the following clause in its report:—

owing clause in its report:—

But the loss of fees is perhaps the least of the evils arising in connection with some of the so-called employment agencies. We are informed that in many cases the offer of employment is a mere pretence, and that the real object is the more lucrative one of procuring young girls for immoral purposes, while in other cases the girls who fall into the hands of the agents are robbed by them.

Among other reforms the committee suggests regulating the term of the licence; that records of engagements must be kept, which shall be available for inspection; and that employment abroad shall only be permitted when the bona-fides of the proposed employer has been certified by the British Consul.

LADY'S HOTEL BILLS.

Nobleman's Daughter Remanded on a Charge of Fraud.

By representing herself as the Honourable Mrs Giffard, it was alleged at Bow-street yesterday that Adelaide Giffard, a fashionably-dressed woman of thirty-seven, had been allowed credit at severa London hotels, including the Hotel Victoria and private hotel in Clarges-street, and on being pressed for payment had left without settling her bills.

She was arrested on a warrant relating to her bill at Barnett's Private Hotel in Craven-street, Strand, where she had recently been staying. When the warrant was read over to her, it was stated by the ecuting counsel, she said that a Mr. Coates was going to pay for her.

going to pay for her.

For the defence Mr. Basil Waison stated that the accused was the daughter of a nobleman, and very well connected in every way, her husband's father being a "retired General. As for the amounts mentioned, beyond the bill at Barnett's hotel, which was the only charge on the warrant, these might not have been obtained, he said, by fraud, since many titled people owed hundreds of pounds.

A remand was ordered, bail being granted in two sureties of £250 each.

THE PROUD BALLET GIRL.

Mr. Forbes, who for many years has conducted a mission among ballet girls, yesterday gave his annual tea at the Alexandra Palace.

One hundred and fifty were present, and after tea they sang hymns in the gardens. Mr. Forbes told a Mirror representative that he found the greatest characteristic of the ballet girl was pride.

"Even when they have nothing to eat and nothing to pawn they will not cry out or ask assistance. Only last week I received a note, 'Please go and see, Miss.—. She has nothing to eat in the house.' Now the girl herself would never have let me know."

M.P.'s EXTRA SHILLING.

Mr. Louis Sinclair, M.P., applied to Mr. Denman Mr. Louis Sinclair, M.F., applied to Mr. Denman at Maribrough-street yesterday in connection with his summons for driving his motor-car on the wrong side of refuges in Regent-street, asking that, for the purposes of appeal, the penalty, 20s., might be increased to a guinea. The Act provided that there was appeal only in cases where the fine was over

Mr. Denman: I think I can accommodate you by fining you a guinea.
Mr. Sinclair paid the extra shilling, and gave formal notice of appeal.

HERO OF THE JONG.

How Lieutenant Grant Won Glory at Gyangtse.

Inquiries at the War Office yesterday confirmed the news that young Lieutenant John Duncar Grant, of the 8th Ghurkas, was severely wounded in Tibet at the storming of Gyangtse.

He did a deed there which stands out as the ost dashing act of bravery in a day of courageous fighting, dubbed as "the finest thing since Dar-gai."

At the close of a long day's battle, he scaled a breach in the wall at the head of a mixed company of Ghurkas and Fusiliers. In face of a hail of fire and an avalanche of stones he and his men climbed up.

A stone struck Lieutenant Grant. Swept off his feet he swayed and swung—nothing, it seemed, could save him from death. A moment of fearful uncertainty, and he had recovered himself in a wooderful manner. He was file first man through the breach, but was severely wounded.

The heroic young lieutenant is the son of a soldier, Colonel Suene Grant, R.E., who served in the Algham war under Lord Roberts.

A Mirror representative had a pleasant conversation yesterday with his mother.

His Proud Mother.

His Proud Mother.

"He has only been four years in the Army," she said, "and this is not the first time he has come prominently forward in the Tibet campaign. He was wounded once before outside Phair Fort. He went out to detain some Tibetan officials with whom Colonel Younghushand wished a further conference. He tried hard to persuade them, but they were either obstinate or did not understand him. He had only a few Ghurkhas with him. "The villagers gathered round threateningly. He felt he must do something, and endeavoured to express by a gesture, putting his hand on a pony's bridle, that he wished them to stay. "A sharp exclamation burst from the lips of a Tibetan official. At once the villagers launched a shower of stones at him. He felt to the ground unconscious, and was carried back to the fort by the Ghurkhas. It was some weeks before he was well of his wounds."

the Unitries. It was well of his wounds.

"I am looking forward to his letter about the storming of the breach," went on Mrs. Grant; "but he is so modest, I expect he will say I am not to believe half of it, though I know it is true."

RACING RIVER STEAMERS.

Thames Conservancy Promises To Stop a Dangerous Practice.

Sir William Treloar yesterday introduced a depu-tation to the Thames Conservancy with a complaint of dangerous racing by excursion steamers on the lower river.

On June 18 Sir William and the members of the deputation were passengers by the Yarmouth Belle. It was alleged that coming up the river between Southend and Tilbury the Koh-i-noor approached within a few yards, and both boats raced for a considerable distance, until the captain of the "Belle" boat slowed down on Sir William Treloar's

Sene Tooks sowed down on our visition receives expositulation. Several members of the deputation said that some hundreds of lives were in danger, and a stop should be put to racing. The chairman of the Thames Conservancy admitted there had been many complaints, and said the Conservancy would never hesitate to take action where proper evidence was laid before them. The matter was referred to the Lower River Committee, with full powers to act.

WOMAN'S INCONSISTENCY.

"It is perfectly impossible for a magistrate to protect women if they behave with such madness," remarked Mr. Garrett at the South-Western Police Court, commenting on the conduct of a woman whose husband, John William Shennings, had kicked her down a flight of stairs.

Mrs. Shennings a weck ago applied for a separation, but has since changed her mind, and appealed in her husband's favour. It was also stated that while the two were first keeping company Shennings brutally assaulted the woman and was sentenced to six months' hard labour, yet after he came out of prison she married him.

Shennings was sentenced to three months' hard labour.

RESCUER SURPRISED.

Seeing William Chilvers, a 1 ottenham labourer, struggling in the river Lea at Spring-hill, a man named Arthur Shemmon dived in to rescue him only to find that Chilvers was a better swimmer only to and that Chilvers was a better swimmer than himself.

At North London Police Court yesterday Chilvers, who said he had had trouble and jumped in the river on the impulse of the moment, was remanded on a charge of attempting to commit suicide.

For placing a rifle shooting apparatus in Rose-bery-avenue, E.C., which he said he had "run" in the street for years, Edmund Hodges was fined 5s. at Clerkenwell.

FOUGHT WITH IRON.

Accused Apprentice Makes a Terrible Confession.

A WORKSHOP TRAGEDY.

A strange account of the manner in which Councillor Lowes met his death in his own workshop at Durham has been given to the police by Robert John Allen, the apprentice charged with his murder

Allen, who is a bright, well-set-up youth of twenty, was brought before the magistrates yesterday and remanded till to-day. During the proceedings his remarkable narrative of what occurred on Saturday afternoon was read. It ran as follows :

"At two o'clock I went up for my wages. He refused to give them to me, and I asked him what for. He said: 'You have an hour and a half to work up.' I said, 'No; I had one hour.'

His Master's Threat.

"He looked up the register, and found that I had an hour, and he gave me my wages, and threatened that he would have me locked up. I said, 'You that he would have me occave of can't.'

"He came out of the office to put me out of the place, and got hold of me by the shoulders, and I pushed him out of the road.

"He got hold of an iron bar from the lathe and hit me with that. I dropped a steel tool on his toes, when he dropped the iron bar. I took it up. He got hold of me and I fell. He got the iron bar to strike me, and I ducked.

"Bats on the Head."

"In the struggle he fell. I gave him a bat with the bar on the hands. He got the bar, but I got it of him, and gave him two or three bats with it on the head, and left him there and came

The Durham head constable stated that when

The Dutham head constable stated that when Allen was confronted on Saturday with his own bloodstained clothes he said, "It's all up, superintendent. I will own up to it."

The case will be concluded to-day with a view to the accused youth's committal to the Assizes, which commence on Thursday. Allen had still nine months to serve as apprentice to Mr. Lowes. He had twice previously wished to leave, but had been unable owing to the articles under which he was bound.

ound. His employer was a marble mason and monumental sculptor, trading as Lowes and Sons. He became a member of the Town Council two years ago, and was prominent in debate as a keen critic in public matters.

FEMALE SHYLOCKS,

Judge's Condemnation of Money-lenders' Women Touts.

In very strong terms Judge Addison, K.C., at Southwark County Court yesterday condemned the practice of women touting on behalf of moneylenders in poor districts, and expressed his determination to stamp out the evil as far as lay in his

A widow, named Eliza Westhorpe, sought to re-A widow, named Eliza Westhorpe, sought to re-cover from William Foster, a foreman, ten shillings which she said she had lent to his wife. Her story was that out of good nature she obtained the money at interest from a neighbour and lent it to Mrs. Foster, who was in great trouble owing to lack of money, for nothing. The husband, how-ever, discovered that she was, so he alleged, a tout of a registered money-lender, and refused to repay the money.

the money.

To a woman who went into the witness-box and stated that she had a few pounds which she lent out at a penny in the shilling per weekz—this, it appeared, is the customary rate of interest—the Judge remarked, "There is no greater pest to the community than such women as you. You do your lending," he added, "through other women who pose as poor widows doing their friends a good time."

Judgment was entered for the defendant, the Judge saying that he wished that he could make the principal pay the costs.

SUICIDE SEASON.

At this season of the year the tendency among persons with ill-balanced minds to commit suicide is brought into prominence by the number of such cases before coroners and magistrates. At West Ham Police Court yesterday Sarah Dawson, a young married woman, was remanded on a charge of attempted suicide. She had taken carbolic said because she had had trouble over money matters. She now expressed sorrow.

because she had not trouble over money assistance. A carman who was brought up on a similar charge had cut his throat with a table knife. His explanation was that "the wife started 'nagging' me and I did it of frighten her." He was remanded also.

MUCH NEWS IN FEW WORDS.

In a front bedroom at Laker's Hotel, Redhill, a sparrow has reared her young in a sponge basket at the washstand.

For deliberately firing a haystack, valued at 2000, at Enfield, William Frain, nine, and Frank Robinson, eight, were ordered to be birched.

At the Clerkenwell County Court two gentlemen, who should have attended as jurymen yesterday were each fined £5 for not answering the summons.

BIG HAUL OF WHALES.

The great whale "drive" in the Shetlands, reported last week, has been followed by another remarkably successful week's fisbing.

No fewer than 164 whates have fallen to the harpoons during the past six days, all of them being caught on the western side of the Shetlands.

CHILD SLEPT IN PIGSTYE.

e Edith Hill, of Bolsover, deserted her husband but took her thirteen-year-old daughter with her. For months past she has been taking week-end holidays and leaving the child from Saturday to Tuesday or Wednesday without any food. Once she left it for a week, and the child was driven to sleep in a pigstye and in a hayfield. For this the woman has been sentenced to a month's hard labour.

TROUBLES OF A WORRIED HUSBAND.

'It's a pity husband and wife can't live to ther peaceably," said the Stratford magistrat gether peaceably," said the Stratford magistrate yesterday,

"It is," retorted the prisoner, "but when you have a 'magging' wife what are you to do?"
"Isn't it enough to make a man hit anyone? I went home a little late for dinner and she nagged and threw a knife at me. Am I a little schoolboy? Can't I go home when I like?"
William Evans, the worried husband, was bound over for six months.

LONDON'S FATAL PLAYGROUND.

During the past week the London coroners have held six inquests on the bodies of children who, while playing on the pavements, have strayed into the toadway and been killed by vehicles.

Yesterday Mr. Troutbeck held an inquest at Lambeth on the body of a little boy named Jennings, who ran from the pavement and fell under a Tulse Hill and King's Cross ommbus. 'The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.

SOMNAMBULIST'S FATAL FALL

Edward Hughes, of Mold, returned home under the influence of drink. He went to bed, but at 2 a.m. the other occupants of the house were awakened by the sound of somebody falling down-

On going to the bottom of the stairs they found Hughes lying there fast asleep. He went back to bed seemingly none the worse, but died two days later from the effects of a fractured skull.

PUSHED POLICEMAN THROUGH WINDOW

Henry Roberts was charged at Lambeth yester-day with keeping a disorderly house at Stockwell.
Rosa Gaiejar, twenty-two, was also charged with pushing Sergeant Sutherland through a window.
The latter said he saw Roberts jump from an upstairs window, and then the woman pushed him (Sutherland) through. He fell twenty to twenty-five feet and was much bruised, but followed Roberts and caught him.

woman was sentenced to two months' hard The man was remanded.

WHO WANTS THESE SERVANTS?

The following quaint advertisements appear in this week's "Church Times":-

L ADY wishes to find Situation with good mistress for girl, 16. Strong, slightly deficient. Not with children South Louden neighbourhood preferred.

WARNOON CONTROL OF A YOUNG CITY AND A YOUNG CITY AND A CONTROL OF A YOUNG CITY AND A

WILL any Lady undertake to train a country Girl of 16, who has been unsatisfactory so far in service? Low

Scarce though servants are, it hardly seems likely ere will be any great competition for such as

COFFIN FOUND IN THE STREET.

A St. Helens policeman was startled to find, in the early hours of the morning, a coffin, with a brass plate bearing the name and age of an old man, lying in one of the main streets. It was empty, and he conveyed it to the Town Hall.

It was subsequently discovered that two local undertakers, among whom there is great competition, had each made a coffin for the dead man. The undertaker who delivered the second coffin took the body out of the first, which he sent to the premises it came from. But these were closed when it arrived, and the singular course was adopted of leaving it in the street,

The yacht race from Heligoland to Dover was bandoned at the last moment yesterday, there not eing sufficient starters.

"It will spoil my honeymoon to stay," said a gentleman summoned for the jury at the Clerken-well Court yesterday. He was excused.

During the singing of a hymn in Davenham Wesleyan Church, near Northwich, Miss Pimblott, sixty-two, fell forward in her pew and died within a few minutes.

The famous brothers De Reszke are visiting London to consult a throat specialist. They will sing privately before the King and Queen, who have already received them at Buckingham Palace.

MAGISTERIAL MIKADO.

Amid roars of laughter, Mr. Montagu Sharpe ordered a boy charged with stealing apples at Brentford to write fifty times on a sheet of fools-cap, "Thou shalt not steal apples."

GAVE GRASS TO THE QUEEN.

Lady Lurgan's three-year-old son loves the pretty soldiers to such an extent that, at the recent children's party at Buckingham Palace, he employed his time in picking dasies and presenting them to the scarlet-coated bandsmen.

Queen Alexandra inquired if he had a daisy to give her. But her Majesty, not being a soldier, the noble youngster replied, "No-grass for you," and forthwith pressed a tiny handful of grass into the amused Queen's hand.

THRICE ARMED WAS HE.

Seeing Charles Morley, a fine art dealer, of Bayswater, brandishing a carving knife in the midst of a crowd, a policeman searched him and found on him also a chopper and a Japanese dancer.

found on him also a compact dagger.

Someone had threatened to "punch" him, said Morley, so he took precautions.

At Marylebone Police Court yesterday the much-armed gentleman was remanded.

SWALLOWS CONQUER A CAT.

On the top of a disused chimney a Maidstone teader observed a cat endeavouring to reach a reader observed a cat enucavouring we swallow's next.

The parent birds flew around the cat, endeavouring to drive it away. Not being able to do so they disappeared. They, however, reappeared in a few moments with nine other swallows.

These, in a compact body, charged the cat with such force as to almost dislodge him from his place, and he hurriedly descended.

HARD TIMES OR CHANGE OF TASTE?

At the meeting of a great firm of caterers yester-day the chairman called attention to the decreasing consumption of wine.

Last year they sold 11,000 hottles less of champagne than in the year before, 5,000 bottles less of Burgundy, 3,500 bottles less of hote, 2,500 bottles less of Moselle, and 10,000 bottles less of claret, and that with no appreciable difference in the number of customers.

In one of their City restaurants last month they took £50 more for food than in the previous year, but £205 less for wines.

HARROW BOY'S ILL-FORTUNE.

Fate has dealt hardly with the Harrow boy, Mr. C. S. Rattigan, whose services were so badly needed in the Eton and Harrow match. Last year, owing to a severe internal sprain, he was unable to do himself justice in the contest at Lord's. His retention in the school was therefore sanctioned for another year.

another year.

After batting and bowling most consistently through the season, on the eve of the match-twelve months exactly from the date of his own injury—his father, Sir W. Rattigan, K.C., M.P., met with a fatal motor accident.

Mr. Carnegie has offered £2,000 for a free library Uxbridge, provided that the Free Libraries Act adopted and a site is given for the building.

The cruiser Diana arrived at Sheerness yesterday for trials after having her armament strengthened and undergoing a refit costing nearly £40,000.

Several letters were destroyed in the receiving box at Brighouse Post Office, owing to children putting lighted matches through the letter-box.

ENGLISH PREJUDICE.

"You must not get drunk here, there is a prejudice—a law against it in this country," said Mr. Plowden to a foreign lady yesterday.

He was discharging Algeria de Barrios, twenty-seven, widow of an ex-President of a Central American State, who was charged with being drunk.

KILLED WHILE HAYMAKING.

Mr. Jacob Walton, of Baildon Green, was on the top of a load of hay, engaged in roping it, when the rope broke, and he fell head foremost to the ground, receiving concussion of the brain, from the effects of which he died.

A farm labourer, named George Davey, fell off a haystack at Green Hammerton on to a hay-fork, which he was carrying. One of the prongs pierced his heart, and he was instantaneously killed.

CUT HER HUSBAND'S NOSE OFF.

At Wednesbury Mary O'Connell was remanded for wounding her husband, Mathew O'Connell, by striking him in the face with a vase and severing his nose.

The man was terribly injured, and lost a large quantity of blood. In order to put the severed parts together a surgeon had to insert seven stitches, and the injury is of such a serious nature it is feared the man will lose his nose.

BITTEN BY FEROCIOUS SHEEP.

While George Bow, aged nine, of Plymouth, was on Plymouth Hoe one of the sheep grazing near bit him. In attempting to push its head away he received a deep bite on the palm and one of the fingers of the right hand.

After some difficulty, and the sheep had bitten and torn his trousers, he got over the railings. The boy, who is seriously injured, states that he in no way molested the sheep.

MISLED THE CLERGYMAN.

An amusing incident is reported in connection with the Congregational Union meetings at Bangor. At the conclusion of a powerful serom the question was asked whether any member of the assembly had been converted by its influence to Christianity, and, if so, would he sit down.

An apparent convert sat down, and a hymn was started for his benefit. But afterwards it transpired that the "convert" had sat down merely because he was tired. He was a well-known chapel-goer.

CARMAN AWARDED E60.

James Power, carman, who was hurt last November through his van breaking down, recovered £60 and costs at Bow County. Count yesterday (under the Employers' Liability 'Act) from an East End mineral water firm.

Commenting on the defence that the map was not engaged in manual labour, Judge Smyly said if loading vans and carrying goods into shops was not manual labour, he did not know what was.

DISTRICT RAILWAY BLOCKED.

Early yesterday morning the District Railway line was temporarily blocked at Earl's Court, through the difficulty experienced in berthing a large electric engine, which was being installed

As no 'buses were running, many workers were consequently delayed in getting into the City.

THE CITY.

Troubles and Worries of Uncertain Markets.

Nothing very startling occurred on the Stock Exchange yesterday. The opening was fairly satisfactory. The the simple reason that it was the last day of the Stock Exchange account. Consequently it was the mining carry-over, and if anything rates were a little lighter than last time. But in the Kalir market they are worrying over an account which is giving trouble, and there is talk also of a possible failure in connection. Consols were a little lower, though the market realised that some of the recent weakness was attributable to preparations against the International Bank irregularity, from which nothing further need be leared. There was a good point in the investment section in the buying which are undoubtedly finding more favour with the public.

Brighton Increase,

Home Rails were sit uncertain market. In the early part of the day there was an attempt to put Southern securities better, and at the close the stocks prominent were North-Easterns, Dover "A", and North-Westerns. was good, showing £3,360 increase, and next week the dividend showing £3,360 increase, and next week the dividend showing swill be attracting interest.

Americans were put well over the New York equivalent Americans was good, showing £3,00 increase, and next week the support of the swill be attracting interest.

Americans were put well over the New York equivalent aomination has done much to allay election fears:

Boutherns and Southern Pacifics firm. The Democratic aomination has done much to allay election fears:

Bright Switz State State

Docks and Breweries

Dock stocks were firmer, their supporters arguing that blether the Bill goes through or no the stocks are not lear. The Parliamentary news, of course, foreshadows abandonment. Berwery descriptions were inclined to arden, and there was perhaps more doing in the nitrate Forced liquidation in the South African mining section proceed that market, but the leading shares were rallying at the finish. The carry-over showed only a light ecount open. The reduced June gold output and the cool labour igueus were not liked. In Westnalman, however, there was weakness, for here there was talk of solomal sching, processors, the value heavy reduced to the cool may be a superior to the cool of the cool o

LATEST MARKET PRICES.

*Argentine 1886...101
*Do Fundg ...1012
Brazilian4 pc 1889 764
Do W.of Minas 884
Chinese 5 pc 1896 994
*Egypti'n Unified 1049
*Italian ......1015

.& I, D. Df. Ord.

Atchison ..... 77‡
Baltimore .... 848
Chesapeake ... 34
Chi., Mil. & S. Pl. 149‡
Denver ... 225 Chi, att. & S. Ft. 1892
Denver are: 22
E. B. Children and S. E. Children and N. Ville 115
Livile and N. Ville 115
Ville Ville

B.A. Gt. South'n132 133 Welgedacht..... Zambesi Explor.

Chartered Co... City & Sub.... Con. Gold S.A. Crown Reef... De Beers Def. East Rand ..... E. Rand. M. Est.. ld Coast Ant... ld'n Horseshoe
. Bld. Per. New
Do Prop. ...
. Fingall 10/ ...
. anhoe ......
...
... Con. In. ... Joh. Con. In.
Knights
Lake View Cons.
May Consolidated
Meyer & Charl.
Modderfontein
Mysore Gold
Nile Valley
N. Copper
Nundydroog
Ooregum

SERGEANT BRUE "TRAVELS WESTWARD.

"Sergeant Brue," originally produced at the Strand Theatre on June 14, was transferred to the Prince of Wales's last night by Mr. Frank Curron, Except that here and there a little compression has been exercised, there is no appreciable altera-tion in the piece since it was first presented at the

As Necessary as Money.

A Fountain Pen is as necessary in your pocket as money is. Both are ready for use all the time. You can't travel without money. You should not without a "Daily Mirror" Fountain Pen. Coupon on page 2.

NOTICES TO READERS.

The Editorial, Advertising, and General Business Offices of the Daily Mirror are: 2, CARMELITE-STREET, LONDON, E.C.

TELEPHONES: 1310 and 1319 Holbe

TELEPHONES: 1010 and 1010 Tollowing The West End Offices of the Daily Mirror are:—45 AND 46, NEW BOND-STREET, LONDON, W. TELEPHONE: 1986 GETTAIL.
TELEGRAPHIC ADDRESS: "Reflexed," London.
PARIS OFFICE: 35, Rue Taitbout.

J. E. BLOOM & CO.,

J. E. BLOOM & CO., 317 and 318, High Holbo

TAILORS.

J. E. BLOOM & CO., SUMMER SALE,

J. E. BLOOM & CO., At Reduced Prices, J. E. BLOOM & CO., July 4th to 30th.

Daily Mirror

TUESDAY, JULY 12, 1904

LIVING OUT OF DOORS.

This is what we all hanker after in hot weather. The air in houses grows unbearable. The walls give off heat that is almost visible. Carpets and curtains and stuffed chairs seem to be in league to make us hotter and more uncomfortable. We long for the open air and whatever breeze there may be, and a chance to draw long breaths into our exhausted lungs.

To the lucky country-dweller all this is possible, though he is often very slow to avail himself of his advantages. The townsman however, is in much harder plight. He cannot put his breakfast table outside the frontdoor, or have tea in the garden, or take a picnic dinner to some convenient river-bank or field. Nor is he at all well provided with open-air resorts where he might eat at mealtimes, and at others sit with coffee or beer before him listening to a band.

The usual answer to a remark of this kind The usual answer to a remark of this kind is that "the English climate is not suitable for living out-of-doors." All nonsense! Our climate is not a beauty, but it is just as good as that of many parts of France and Germany, not to mention more northerly countries, where open-air café-restaurants are highly popular, and well filled for quite half highly popular, and well filled for quite half the year.

It is simply want of enterprise on our part, coupled with want of room. Land is dearer in London than in any other city in the world. In all our big towns it is priced high. Still, there would be plenty of money in good cut-of-door restaurants for all classes if only someone would set them going.

Why are not our public open spaces used more for this purpose? They are for every-body's good, and certainly it would make everybody better to be given the opportunity. to keep cool in weather like that of the last few days.

Reformation or Resignation?

The usual cry for "more Judges" is going up now July has come round again. Certainly the block at the Law Courts is monstrous. Numbers of actions are hung up now with no chance of being heard until October.

But the real trouble is not too few Judges. It is our out-of-date circuit system which takes Judges away from London to go round the country trying a few cases here and a few there which could almost all be disposed of by lesser tribunals—quarter sessions or the country courts. county courts.

county courts.

This waste of energy (and of the time both of suitors and counsel) ought to have been remedied long ago. Indeed, our whole judicial system has wanted overhauling for many years past. The Lord Chancellor is supposed to keep it in order. That is why we pay him £10,000 a year. If he cannot or will not check abuses that have been bywords for years, he cupth to regipt in favour of somebody who

MORE TEETH-BREAKERS

THE TSAR (in his sleep): Alas! if I had known that my dreams would be haunted by words like this, I should certainly never have permitted the war!

[General Sakharoff in his telegram about the capture of Kaiping by the Japanese introduced an entirely fresh batch of names nobody has ever heard of even harder to pronounce than those to which we have by this time got more or less accustomed.]

MORNING'S THIS GOSSIP.

There is a pretty little romance in connection with the portrait of Queen Alexandra which Mr. Edward Hughes is painting. Skilful artist as is the vice-president of the Royal Society of Painters in Water Colours, his studio is not one to which ordinarily society goes for its portraits. But the Queen knows his work, and determined that he should help her to carry out a surprise for the King.

Quite privately she gave him a number of sittings, wearing the magnificent dress in which she appeared at the Coronation. Nobody knew anything of the matter until the forty-first anniversary of the wedding of the King and Queen. Then her Majesty led the King into one of the state rooms of Buckingham Palace and desired him to unveil a picture placed on an easel there. The curtain was drawn by the King, and there was her birthday gift to himself, one of the prettiest portraits she has ever had. The one for which her Majesty is now sitting is to be a replica of that, and to be sent to her father, the King of Denmark.

* * *

Lady Marjoric Gordon will disappoint those who attend her wedding to-day expecting to see a young lady of sparkling beauty. Intellect, sweetness, and kindliness appear in her every feature, not mere prettiness. She looks what she is, a thoroughly good, clever girl, the image of her mother, the Countess of Aberdeen, the replica of her in tastes and aims. Captain Sinelair, the bridegroom-elect, is just as earnest and thoughtful in his way, and the combination should prove a most happy one. Lady Marjorie Gordon will disappoint those who

This waste of energy (and of the time both of suitors and counsel) ought to have been remedied long ago. Indeed, our whole judicial system has wanted overhauling for many years past. The Lord Chancellor is supposed to keep it in order. That is why we pay him £10,000 a year. If he cannot or will not check abuses that have been bywords for years, he ought to resign in favour of somebody who can and will.

A THOUGHT FOR TO-DAY.

Sir Coam Doyle's Parable.

The cheese-mites asked how the cheese got there, And warmly debated the matter;
They argued it long and drawed it strong, and the Hereites said from the platter. They argued it long and grayed it strong, and the fereites said from the platter. They argued it long and grayed it strong, and the fereites said from the platter. They argued it long and grayed it strong, and the fereites said from the platter. They argued it long and grayed it strong, and the fereites said from the platter. They argued it long and the strong that the strong the strong the strong that the strong the strong that th

The last time Mr. Graham Browne and his wife, Miss Madge Mackintosh, appeared together at a trial matinete the occasion brought forth that very interesting play, "The Weather-Hen." Is it too much to hope for another such pleasant surprise this afternoon when they produce "George Paston's" play, "The Pharisee's Wife"? They are two exceptionally intelligent players, and their meterest in the piece arouses expectations. Mr. Graham Browne has the reputation of being almost the only man on the stage who can be romantic and gentlemanly at the same time; and Miss Mackintosh is the most sympathetic among our younger actresses.

Mr. Windsor T. White, of "White" steammotor-car fame, meant to go back to America after visiting London and proudly show his friends his licence to drive in the old country. He will keep that licence dark now, for alas! it bears upon it a statement that last week he was fined for driving on the right instead of the left side of a street refuge! His defence was that in America he would have been committing no breach of law. Now he goes about repeating to himself softly that in London

"If you go left, you go right; And if you go right, you go wrong."

"On Sunday evening service will be in the garden." That was the notice up outside a Putney Nonconformist Church, and sure enough when Sunday evening came there were the congregation sitting on chairs about the grass and the minister reading and preaching from a table set up on the gravel path. They certainly looked cool, and as they came away they were loud in praise of their minister's happy thought.

Sir Charles Warren, who has just received a well-carned good service pension, has been little heard of since the unhappy recriminations which followed the publication of the Spion Kop dispatches, which told only half the story and left him to unmerited obloquy. Unpleasant as the whole matter became, there was one gleam of mirth in the preliminaries. Sir Charles permits nothing to stand between him and his bath. Just as the order went forth for the last attempt at the crossing of the Tugela, Warren was in the midst of his ablutions. Buller wanted him at that moment, rode up to find him, and then and there they held their conference, Buller on horseback, Warren, naked as he was born, in his tub.

A small boy with a cart was run into by a motor-car the other day. As soon as he had pulled him-self together he shouted: "I'll have the law of you for this. Just you hold ny horse's head white I go; and find a policeman."—" Kladderadatsch." (German).

A MAN OF THE MOMENT.

The Chairman of the N.R.A.

Not since the National Rifle Association began to hold its meetings at Bisley instead of at Wimble don has the chairman lived in camp for the annual fortnight. The pleasure which is felt at Lord Cheylesmore's presence this year is all the greater Cheylesmore's presence this year is all the greater since his wife is with him—the handsome, pleasant American who has been so popular on this side ever since her matriage in 1892.

She met her husband, who was then Colonel Herbert Eaton, by the merest chance. He had been sent to Bermuda in charge of a battalion of Guards who had been behaving badly. He groaned at his harsh fate! But Bermuda is a place where many Americans go for their holfdays, and it was not long before Colonel Eaton was blessing instead of cursing his lot.

This is about the most remarkable thing Lord Cheylesmore the succeeded his brother in 1902) has ever done. He is a good-looking man, and reckoned a good soldier. He collects medals intelligently, shoots and drives better than most, and can do his share of work in a boat. But beyond thaf and doing much useful work as an organiser of all kinds of charittes, he is not a specially distinguished man.

All the same, they are very glad to have him down at Bisley, and he does not lose any popu-larity by being a lord.

QUESTION AND ANSWER.

Can Iced Drinks Be Taken in Hot Weather with Impunity?

Carefully iced drinks—that is, drinks which have been cooled by being kept near ice—will not have heen cooled by being kept near ice—will not have healthy people, though, if either teeth or digestion be defective, they are preity likely to cause trouble.

Drinks with ice in them should be avoided like the plague. The tinkle of the lump against the glass is pleasant, but you can never tell where that lump came from, or what kind of hands it has been through.

The best thirst-quenchers are not iced at all. Extreme cold rather stimulates than abates thirst. Sip any drink quietly (instead of gulping it), and it will soon have the desired effect.

Why is not the omnibus-horses' stopping-place opposite St. George's Hospital at Hyde Park Corner kept sanded, so that the poor animals may get a better footing on the stiff, smooth-pave incline? A kind-hearted correspondent asks methis, and for the life of med 1 cannot tell. I know one or two members of the Westminster City Council, humane men enough. But this body, as a whole, seems to have no feeling for horses at all.

THE HERO OF GYANGTSE AND HIS MEN.

Lieut. Grant, who, with his men, performed such an heroic deed in scaling the walls of the jong if face of a hail of fire and torrents of stones. Lieut. Grant was struck down, but he regained his position, and was first man over the breach.

A photograph of some of the men of the Ghurkas, who aided Lieutenant Grant in rushing the breach in the long made by the guns. Nothing finer could be imagined than those gallant Ghurkas' burst up what appeared to be inacc

£400,000 FOR WORKMEN.

A snapshot taken in Paris of Baron Alphonse de Rothschild, who, with his brothers, the Barons Gustave and Edmond, has presented £400,000 to the French Government for the erection of workmen's dwellings.

"T.P.'s IRISHMAN."

Camillo Alexander Luis Russell-Righini, Mme. Ella Russell's charming boy, who celebrates his third birthday to-day by giving a tea-party. See page 4.

WOMAN SHOEBLACK.

London's only female shoeblack, who has been removed from her "stand" in the Euston-road by the police because she had no licence.

The arrival of the German fleet outs arrived at Plymouth, and will rema and was witnessed by

This unique photograph shows Japan they have been occupying ever since

TO-DAY'S SOCIETY WEDDING.

Lady Marjorie Gordon, whose marriage to Captain John Sinclair, M.P., to-day, at 8t. Mary Abbot's, Konsington, is one of great social and political intercet.—

Captain John Sinclair, M.P., who is to be married to-day to the only daughter of Lord and Lady Aberdeen, is a wellknown Liberal member.—(Photograph by Thomeon.)

RMAN ARMADA AT PLYMOUTH.

n Harbour on Sunday. About mid-day the squadron, composed of eight battleships and seven cruisers, orrow. The scene as the vessels steamed up towards the port presented a most imposing spectacle, of spectators, who crowded along the shores of the harbour and on the slopes of the Hoc.

AFTER CHEMULPHO.

A group of Russian wounded in hospital after the battle of Chemulpho. In the centre is a wounded Jap wearing a Russian sailor's sap. Note the two Japanese nurses in the background.—(Photograph by Nouvelles, Paris.)

FLOODS IN THE EAST.

Since the commencement of the war in the Far East the movements of the Russian soldiers have been considerably hampered by tor-rential floods. The above is a photograph of a street in Harbin under water—(Photograph by George Rogers, of Urban.)

ON THE MARCH TO PORT ARTHUR.

guarding the gates of the town of Feng-huang-cheng, which the Russians out after the battle of Kiu-leng-cheng.—(Repromission of "Collier's Weekly.)

Wounded Japanese soldiers on the banks of the Yalu River. In the battles fought here the Japanese achieved some of the greatest military feats on record. This photograph was taken during the thick of the fighting (Reproduced by permission of "Collier's Weekly.")

LADY MARJORIE GORDON'S TOILETTE FOR HER MARRIAGE TO-DAY.

TO-DAY'S GREAT WEDDING.

BRIDESMAIDS WEAR COPIES OF HISTORIC FROCKS.

The wedding that will be of paramount interest to the world at large to-day is that of Lady Marjoric Gordon to Captain Sinclair, which will take jorie Gordon to Captain Sinclair, which will take place at St. Mary's Abbot's, Kensington.

Lord and Lady Aberdeen, the bride's parents, are celebrated in every quarter of the globe. Lord Aberdeen was Governor-General of Canada, and before that was Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland; and in her sphere Lady Aberdeen is no less active, for she is one of the eleverest women of the day, and was president of the International Council of Women from 1893 to 1896, and also of the Women's Local Government Society until last year. That she writes very pleasantly everyone will agree who has read "Through Canada with a Kodak."

A Journalistic Bride.

A Journalistic Bride.

Of Lady Marjoric Gordon, who is a tall, elegant and graceful girl, with dark bair and eyes, it may be said that she inherits many of her parents' tastes, and has often been associated with them in their work. She, too, writes charmingly, and edited a magazine when yet quite a child. She has known her future husband for many years; he was with Lord Aberdeen in Canada.

It is characteristic of Lady Aberdeen and her daughter that the trouseau prepared for Lady Marjorie should come from many places, Ireland, Scotland, Canada, and England all contribute something. Thus her wedding gown, made in London, at Viola's in Albemarle-street, is embroidered with appliqués in silver, worked partly in Scotland and partly in Dublin. Her gown is of cream coloured corded silk, made long and quite plain, with no extra train—a fashion which, I am glad to say, is obtaining favour, for several society brides lately have abandoned the train in favour of the plainer gown. There, is, however, a beautiful flounce of old Brussels lace bordering the skirt, and carried up the left side to the waist, which, as well as the veil of the same lace, was worn by Lady Aberdeen at her own wedding. Here and there are embroideries in silver of broom and ivy, these being the badges of the two families of Gordon and Sinclair. The bodice is low, with a high chemisette of chiffon, draped with a fichu, and embroidered in silver. Real orange flowers will be worn.

The troupe of bridesmaids are sure to look very

The troupe of bridesmaids are sure to look very quaint and charming, for their toilettes, made by quaint and charming, for their toilettes, made by the decision of the decision of the decision of of the dresses worn Holles-street, are exact copies of the dresses worn Holles-street, are exact copies of the dresses worn Holles-street, are considered Victoria's weeding. Composed of white Louise silk, they have full bodiese, with deep berther of lane and chiffon upon them. The skirts are full and quite plain, and instead of wearing either hats

IRISH LINENS AND SUMMER FABRICS

direct from Ireland.

TF you will send us a post card, we will be pleased to send you a variety of samples of genuine Irish goods-pretty things for making blouses and summer costumes — patterns of Tablecloths, Handkerchiefs. Sheetings, Towels, &c.

Many of these are such as cannot be bought in the shops -all of them are at such prices as make it profitable to buy direct. You can order by number and keep the samples for comparison when the goods come home. You can make the selection in the comfort and leisure of your own house.

G. R. HUTTON & CO.,

Room 81, Larne, Ireland.

or bonnets the royal plan obtains of wreaths taking their place. They are composed of malmaisons, flower of the brodm, and ivy leaves, once more in accentuation of the badges of the two contracting houses. Wreathed round the arms are to be scarves of porcelain blue chiffon. The bride's going-away gown is of creamy-white folienne, strapped with glace silk, with a fichu of chiffon and a deep Victorian berthe of string-coloured lace, above a white glace belt. A quaint Victorian bonnet will be worn with this attire, tied with white strings.

Other gowns are a white crèpe de Chine one for the evening, the skirt of which has a deeply-gauged hip-yoke, while the bêbé bodice is swathed with chiffon, of which the sleeves are also made. The Limerick lace workers have presented a beautiful berthe, which droops on the shoulders and is finished in front by a bunch of pink roses. Another evening gown is of black crèpe de Chine, with long silver embroideries upon it.

There is also an erquisite tea gown in rayon crèpe de Chine cream tinted with a high empire sash and long ends of rose colour, and angel-wing sleeves of chiffon, reaching nearly to the ground, terminated by a hem of rose silk.

One day gown is made of black taffetas, very full and much flounced, another is of pastel blue. Then there is a brown cloth coat and skirt, also a dark red one, and a quantity of linen and dainty muslin gowns and numbers of charming blueses.

The beautiful lingerie has all been made by societies and schools in which Lady Aberdeen has so long taken an interest.

HOT WEATHER BEVERAGES.

Nothing equals barley water and oatmeal as cooling and sustaining beverages in the heat of sum-

BARLEY WATER.—Wash one ounce of pearl bar-ley, put it into a saucepan with one quart of cold water and a strip of lemon peel. Let it simmer for an hour, strain it, sweeten it, and add lemon juice to taste.

OATMEAL WATER.—Take three ounces of oat-meal and stir it into one quart of cold water. Let it settle, pour off the clear water, which is then ready to drink, or it can be sweetened and flavoured with lemon juice.

almost essential, but for the simple short costume, of lawn or mull it is better to abjure the silk petticoat and resort to one of cambric and lace, which, however, may be quite as costly as the silk one. If expense is not to be considered, a silk skirt may be trimmed effectively with diamond-shaped patterns of lace centred with Tom Thumb ribbon embroidery that simulate clusters of flowers. Again, alternate rows of lace and finely tucked lawn make an attractive embellishment. When a very full skirt is desired a petticoat may have two or more flounces, each made extremely wide, and in this case each deep ruffle should have its own edging of lace, and should be extensively tucked and inset with lace. The top ruffle should be attached to the petticoat a little above the knee.

Many of the newest cambric petticoats are flounced with embroidered cambric, and are flounced with the broad band of coloured ribbon run through insertion. The ribbon is tied at the back, in front, and a little to one side in big bows, and the beading may be of various widths.

Broad Valenciennes about four or five inches wide is one of the most desirable laces for this sort of skirt, for it gives an extremely soft and attractive finish, not only to the petticoat, but to the gown it accompanies. The smart petticoat is made with a train at the back, just touches the floor in the front, and at the sides is still more long.

ANNOYING FLIES.

HOW TO BANISH BUZZING PESTS.

To keep a house cool in the summer weather open every window and door wide for two hours in the early morning, then close the doors and leave the windows not more than six inches open. The windows all over the house should be left open in this way, and the blinds be drawn down close to the edge of the opening, for by keeping the sun out and providing a good draught of air the house may and providing a good draught of air the house may be kept cool.

Never allow a speck of food to remain uncovered in either the dining-room or pantry for any length of time after meals. Food should be covered at once, and the pantry windows should be kept open a few inches and be darkened.

To deal with the pestilent fly every door and window should be screened from top to bottom. The following mixture is excellent for keeping flies out of a room. Take half a teaspoonful of white pepper, one teaspoonful of cream and the same amount of brown sugar, and mix these ingredients well together. Strong green tea well sweetened is another very good deterrent to flies.

SUMMER SHOES.

LOW PUMPS FOR COOLNESS AND COMFORT.

this year because of the short skirts that girls wear, and extravagant young women are indulging in a variety of them, one pair for each costume.

in a variety of them, one pair for each costume. There are shoes for every occasion, and each pair seems prettier than the last. One of the neatest pairs recently seen were made in a golden-brown shade with Louis heels, which are distinctly high, but display the instep charmingly. Hosiery to exactly match the shoes should be worn, and there are stockings so filmy as to seem more like lace than anything stronger.

The smartest and coolest shoes of all are the summer girl's pumps. These are cut on precisely the same lines as a man's dancing shoes, very low, and are worn without either a ribbon tie or a button. They are made of tan leather, Russia leather, patent leathert, and all sorts of subde, glazed and unglazed.

An inventor was brought by ill-health to realize the urgent necessity for a predigested cereal food, that the system could easily absorb; that would furnish the body with energy and also rebuild brain and nerve centres. Result: GRAPE-NUTS fully cooked breakfast food.

> ALL GROCERS SELL AT 70. PER PACKET.

Hay Fever.

MAUD BAKER

(From KATE REILEY),

Begs to offer a Special Made Corset to Measure, from One Guinea. The latest from Paris. Hours 10 to 5.

123. MARYLEBONE ROAD, N.W.

RUSSIAN PRIEST HERO.

How Father Ivann Carried the Orucifix at Kiu-len-cheng,

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.) Moscow, Thursday

The hero of all Russia to-day is not Kuropatkin or Skrydloff, but Father Ivann Stcherbatkovsky. the priest-hero of Kiu-len-cheng, who, holding aloft a crucifix, led the 12th Regiment in a desperate bayonet charge through the Japanese ranks.

The correspondent of a Moscow paper has interviewed Father Stcherbatkovsky, who is now lying in hospital at Kharbin with three bullet wounds in "My regiment," said the heroic priest, "was seninto action to save the situation, and allow Kashialinsky's shattered battalions to retreat safely. While the latter were getting away we were surrounded by Japanese, and had to cut our way out with the bayonet.

rounded by Japanese, and had to cut our way one with the bayonet.

"As our troops swept to the charge the Japanese shrapned tore whole lanes through them. They wavered. The thought that they might give way struck me as terrible, and remembering our holy faith and the Christian work entrusted to Russia's armies, I determined to re-inspirit them. "I removed my hat, and, taking this crucifus in my right hand (the priest pointed to a cross of brass with the corner knocked off by a bullet), I rushed to the front. The men cheered when they saw me, some crying, "Christ is with us!" The three men nearest me were blown to bits by a shell, but I was unhurt. The men who took their places fell one by one under the terrific Japanese fire, the continuous flame of which afar seemed to our Christian spirits as the flames of Hell.

But I held the threatening symbol of Christian sovereignty high in the air, and as we drew nearer our heattlen opponents, I could see that the cross, had struck terror into their hearts. "At last a bullet struck me in the chest; but I went on. Another struck me, and I staggered.

Then came a third, and I fell, and was carried off the field while our triumphant legion, guarded in the path of Christ, swept on, and, hacking a path through the encircling myriads of Japanese; re-gained our retreating main body. What that fight meant you may imagine. Ninety per cent. of one company fell."

INDIANS HELP RUSSIA.

Sepoys Assist in the Defence of Port Arthur,

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

M. Nemirovitch-Dantchenko, acting as war cor respondent of the "Russkoe Slovo," declares that there is a large number of "sepoys from British India" engaged in the defence of Port Arthur:—

"In the hoisy crowd," says the correspondent,
"move grave, leisurely, tall sepoys in white and red turbans. These bearded giants may be seen mptuously ordering about the Chinese navvies, watching the works in the dock, or sitting peace fully outside their houses.

"These sepoys got into touch with Russia during the campaign of 1900, and have remained with us ever since. I do not know how Port Arthur would manage without them. Honest, hardworking, trustworthy, they put their whole hearts into local undertakings. The Chinese alone fear them, for the tacitum and tranquil British Indian is a pledge of good order. They have even taught the Chinese cleanliness, "'You had better leave Port Arthur. It is dangerous to remain,' said the authorities.

"'We did not eat Russia's bread with the idea of abandoning her in misfortune,' was the reply.

"'But everyone here will soon have to shoulder a rifle."

"If we fought for the English, who did not treat us as human beings, we will fight all the more readily for Russia."

"Not one of them left the town."

The Premier's Daughter

By ALICE and CLAUDE ASKEW.

CHAPTER XXXIV. (continued.)

"My father is in great trouble." Beatrix glanced up nervously at Feodora Cary and then looked at the clock on the mantelpiece. "There will be time to catch the 5.30 train, if I tell them to pack at once, so excuse me for a moment, Eco.?" she said, as the moved rapidly to the door, her self-reliance

Must you go?" began Lady Cary; "what will in say to your dashing off in this fashion—can't

"Must you go?" began Lady Cary; "what will John say to your dashing off in this fashion—can't le go with you?"
"Impossible, he has to speak in the House tonight, and it is his first speech, Feo. How I wanted to hear him." And Beatrix left the room repressing a faint sigh; her consin meanwhile watched her, and sighed herself as the door closed. "Ah, yees, Trix is happy," she muttered rather enviously; "after all, is love the one thing needful, and has she found the jewel I lost?" Yeodora Cary was not often given to serious musings, but now, as she lay back full length in the deep armchair, she grew pensive and thoughtful, for she remembered a certain summer—and a certain man. He had been a mere detrimental, and she had done wisely, from the worldly standpoint, in tossing him lightly over for Sir Anthony Cary, and yet Feo felt suddenly sick and sorry. The glamour of, lost sunsets, the scent of other Junes—why had she middenly realised all that she had lost?

Her small face looked thin and peevish when Beatrix returned, and she glanced up a little impatiently, "Well, are all your preparations done?" she asked, "I see you have changed into a travelling frock."

"Yes, I have given all my orders," answered she asked, "I see you have changed into a travelling frock."

"Yes, I have given all my orders," answered Beatrix; "the carriage will be round in an hour, and my maid goes with me. I have written a letter to John. The trouble must be very serious," she turned to her cousin, a grave expression on her face, "that makes my father wire to me. Besides, he was in town this morning, so he has evidently been summoned down to Oakfields," "Mrs. Chevenix is staying at Oakfields, isn't she?" Lady Cary said quickly. "Didn't she have some accident or other last week? I heard people talking about it."

"She fell into the pond at Oakfields," answered Beatrix slowly, "overbalancing herself whilst trying to pick some water lilies. Father heard a splash, and only got to the pond in time to save her. The worst of the trouble is that in falling into the water she must have knocked her head against some of the ornamental stones that border the edge of the pond, for ever since the accident he has been in a semi-conscious condition. Father hates anyone to talk about it; but, of course, we are all fearfully anxious."

"I wonder Uncle Robert cares to leave Mrs. Chevenix at such a time," remarked Lady Cary, looking hard at Beatrix. "He has been in London all this week."

"He had to tittend the opening of Parliament," fooking nato at 3" all this week."

"He had to attend the opening of Parliament," returned Beatrix quickly, a slight flush colouring her checks, "and he could have done no good by staying down at Oakfields. Poor Mrs. Cheenix recognises no one, but directly she recovers consciousness, of course, father will be with her. She may have so recovered already, for you see father has evidently been sent for by the doctors, as he wires to me from Oakfields." The girl knit her brows and spoke with some constraint of manner. She had to admit to herself that there was something mysterious about Margaret Cheveniv's accident; that there was more in it perhaps than met the eye. The Premier's account of the affair had been vague and shadowy, and Beatirs' had her own secret misgivings as to whether it had been the accident he tried to make out. Could Margaret have made a desperate attempt on her own life, and have been impelled to play the part of a suicide? Beatirx remembered the tragic scene in the library, on that day when she had first met the woman who was then known as Molly Devine; and she remembered low reductant Margaret had been to agree to Paul Carew's conditions; with what intense dread the woman had shrunk back from the idea of marrying the Premier, and how spiritless and wretched had been her final consent. She had evidently expected to find little happiness in the marriage; had these misgivings been realised, and had life become such a wearsome burden to the unhappy woman that she had been eager to throw it away?

Beattix feit very uneasy as these thoughts in-had life become such a wearisome burden to the unhappy woman that she had been eager to throw it away?

Beatrix felt very measy as these thoughts intruded themselves into her mind. She could not help realising that the Premier's conduct had been strange. Why should he have hurried up to London the very day after the so-called accident, leaving Margaret in a condition of very great danger; and then, again, why had he made no attempt to return to Oakfields? Certainly his services were needed in the House of Commons, but his conduct was strange, for all that, for surely he was a man first and Premier afterwards.

The girl grew very anxious about what was passing at Oakfields, as she leaned back in the comfortable railway carriage, secure in the seclusion of a reserved compartment. All her sympathy flowed out to Margaret, for Beatrix realised the tragedy of her step-mother's position. Neither Margaret nor the Premier had ever taken Beatrix into their confidence, and during a hasty visit she had paid to Oakfields Beatrix could not help noticing how Mrs. Chevenix endeavoured to avoid being left alone with her, and yet, or so the girl had fancied, Margaret's eyes seemed to entreat her sympathy, and there was something pathetic and painful in the woman's whole expression.

She wondered sometimes if Paul Carew would ever occur in her life again, and wondered always there was something pathetic and painful in the woman's whole expression.

She wondered sometimes if Paul Carew would ever occur in her life again, and wondered always with a stupid, sick feeling of terror, for she had an instinctive feeling that the man would bring trouble on her and on that dearer, self, her husband, John Heron.

She was not a coward by any means, but she never called up a recollection of the thin, dark, evil face without a nervous shudder, for Paul Carew had glanced at her with such hate in his eyes and such malice in his smile that she had felt quite certain that he only waited his chance to become a most dangerous enemy.

Beatrix closed her eyes after a while as the train swept and curved on, wisely determining not to rack her brain with vain surmise. She would know what was happening at Oakhelds soon enough, and it might be as well to rest while she could.

She roused herself with a start when her maid bent forward to tell her they had reached their station.

MINTED CAMBRIDGE

"Was I asteep, Parsons?" she asked, a little vaguely, and then hurried out of the carriage, for her quick eyes had caught sight of her father standing on the platform.

Robert Chevenix looked his full age, and even more, as he stood up, the last golden rays of the setting sun shining on his face. He had a worn and anxious expression, and had quite lost his air of Joyean majesty. He was no longer as one of the immortals, but a mere human creature, who could feel and suffer, like other men.

Something in his pose and attitude stirred Bea-immortals, but a mere human creature, who could feel and suffer, like other men.

Something in his pose and attitude stirred Beatrik deeply, for he somehow looked crushed—and she had only seen him hitherto as one riding by, a conqueror. Her whole heart went out to him, and she moved forward, her arms outstretched, her face lit up with a rare and tender smile. The Beatrix of the past would have gazed with half-incredulous wonder, but the new Beatrix was stirred and deeply compassionate. What vulture had been tearing at her father's heart—what pales in had risen from the past to haunt him?

The father and daughter grasped each other's hands in silence, and then Robert Chevenix drew his daughter to the shelter of the waiting-room.

"I must speak to you," he muttered hoarsely, and closing the door and leaning heavily against it. "Ah, Beatrix, I knew you would come to me."

"Naturally," she replied, still detaining his hand and gazing somewhat anxiously at his haggard, careworn face. "How could you imagine otherwise—but tell me what the trouble is and how I can help you."

"Macraget is ill year ill." he answered slowly.

careworn tace. "How could you imagine otherwise —but tell me what the trouble is and how I can help you."

"Margaret is ill, very ill," he answered slowly,
"and they fancy the crisis will be to-night."
Beatrix started. There was a note of intense depression in her father's voice; his eyes were bloodshot, and he looked as if he feared the worst.
Perhaps, after all, he had grown to care deeply for Margaret. Involuntarily, and thinking of her love for John Heron, her grasp on her father's hand tightened.
"You mustal" averages

"I feel sure all will be well; but, indeed, you mustn't worry."

"You will stay the night here, Beatrix, won't you? The man looked at his daughter, pleading eagerly. "And bring me the news; you bring it your own self—to-morrow. Mark me, Trix, no letters—no telegrams. I must hear how things have gone from your own tips. Child, you will do this for my sake?"
"But are you going away, leaving your wife, now, at such an hour. Is it right, father—is it kin."

now, at such an hour. Is it right, father—is it kind?"
"I must," he replied quickly. "I speak to-night on the new Bill. The Bill issat stake. I must be at my post. Trix, you understand that, surely." Her brows contracted. "Yes, I understand; she said gravely, "but it seems hard—from the woman's point of view. And how are you getting to town to-night? A special, I suppose?" Her father noded. "I only waited for you to arrive; they are signalling to clear the line now. You will drive straight up to Oakfields, won't you, and see Margaret directly you arrive. She is beginning to recover consciousness, and to recognize people and things. You must be with her, Beatrix—promise me that you will be with her." The Premier spoke in tones of extreme camestness, gazing hard at his daughter.
"Of course, I will be with her," answered Beatrix quietly. "You can trust me, father."

"She may say strange things," the man went on earnestly, "and make wild and fearful statements. You will not be frightened, you will not believe her, Trix?" He caught his daughter's hand as he spoke, and pressed it tightly.
"Do you mean that her brain is likely to be affected?" cried the girl, with some horror. "Has the shock of the sudden immersion made Margaret mad?"

the shock of the sudden immersion made Margaret mad?"

"I don't know—I cannot (ell," muttered the Premier; "but the doctors hint, from one or (wo statements she has already begun to make to her nurse, that if may be 30. She makes long, rambling statements—says things only a mad woman would say." He wiped his brow as he spoke, for it was damp with sweat.

Beatrix shivered, despite the heat of the warm summer day, and she glanced at the Premier with compassion. "Oh, father, this is simply terrible," she murmured gently; "but what can I do?" "You can sat in her room tonight," he answered slowly, not looking at her as he spoke,—"to-night will decide the question of her anity. I expectant the market of the says to-marrow. Compassion, "Trix. I will send the carriage to meet you at the station. You will drive straight to Portman-square. I will be waiting for you in the library. Now, child, if you love need on't fail to come. You must tell me, word for word, what Margaret has said during the night. I could not endure to hear if from the lips of strangers; you—you must bring me the news, good or bad, yoursel?"

"Dear, you can trust me to come," Beatrix tender of strangers; you—you must bring me the news, good or bad, yoursel?"

strangers; you—you must bring me the news, good or bad, yourself."

"Dear, you can trust me to come," Beatrix replied solly, and then she bent forward and pressed her lips to the Premier's hot forehead. She felt the painful throbbing of the brow, and guessed what he must be suffering.

"Be brave," she whispered, "Margaret may recover; let us pray to God for her life, for her reason. Oh, father, in the old days, the days before I met John, I used to question whether there could be any good in prayer; I almost looked on religion as superstition; but now, now—I know better now, for I believe levrently in the God who made Heaven and Earth, the God who maswers the prayers of those who trust in Him." Beatrix looked radiant as she said these words, her lips parted in a smile, her eyes gleamed with soft brightness. Her father stared at her aghast, and then he gripped her hand tighter.

"Don't pray to God for Margaret's life," he muttered, hoarsely; "you would not have her live on—an imbecile?"
"But the may recover," cried Beatrix. "Why muttered, boarsely; "you would not have her live on—an imbecile?"

"But she may recover," cried Beatrix. "Why take such a gloomy view, dear father; of course, she will recover."

"I doubt it," the man replied, in low tones; "when you get to Oakfields you will see a mad woman, Trix. Yes, by the Heaven above us, F swear to you that Margaret is mad—mad." He repeated the word with savage energy, and then he turned abruptly away.

A moment later the special conveying the Premier up to town puffed out of the station, watched by Beatrix and a small group of obsequious porters and underlings. Beatrix followed the train out of sight with her eyes, and then she turned and left the station. Outside the Chevenix carriage waited. "Drive as fast as you can to Oakfields," she directed the coachman—"as fast as the horses can take us."

(To be continued to-morrow.)

FELS-NAPTHA SOAP

How is it that some women ask for their money, if Fels-Naptha is so good?

Because they don't go by the book, and so don't find-out Fels-Naptha. They think they know how to wash and won't try a new way. They boil their clothes and lose the advantage.

The wonder is that so few complain when so many destroy Fels-Naptha by boiling. Fele-Naptha 39 Wilson street London & C

BORN TO THE BOARDS.

Terry Family a Striking Example of Players' Children Following in Their Parents' Footsteps.

In no calling or profession in which, as everyone In no calling or profession in which, as everyone knows, there is a marked tendency for the son to follow in the footsteps of his father, does the pro-verb that "The apple does not fall far from the tree" find a more vivid confirmation than of the

In no family has this been more conspicuous the in that which may be regarded as the leading theatrical family in England—the Terry family. Miss Ellen Terry has, by common consent, long been regarded as our greatest actress, and, in addition, there is her sister, Miss Marion Terry, and her brother, Mr. Fred Terry, and their father and mother were actors before them. Miss Eller and monter were actors below than an able.

Ferry's son and daughter have also been on the stage. Miss Edith Craig, as she calls herself, playing for some years at the Lyceum, and even now she occasionally acts for the Stage Society, while Mr. Gordon Craig, who used also to be a member of the Lyceum Company, is starting a ma'am?" much to her Majesty's unconcealed merriment.

merriment.

Sir Henry Irving's two sons, Mr. H. B. Irving and Mr. Laurence Irving, are particularly interesting instances of the force of hereditary genius. Mr. H. B. Irving's position on the stage is an assured one, and fully bears out what, it is understood, was his father's opinion expressed at a time when it was thought the Bar and not the stage would claim the young man's services. "I have two sons," Sir Henry is reported to have said; "the one who can at refuses to go on the stage, and wants to be a barrister; and the one who can't act refuses to do anything else but go on the stage."

ACTOR'S SON AS PLAYWRIGHT.

The latter, it need hardly be said, is Mr. Laurence Irving, who, destined for a diplomatic career, refused to continue in that interesting world and insisted on becoming a stage player Mr. Laurence Irving, too, is remarkable as the English author who has supplied more plays for seeing father and son on the same stage, as in the case of Sir Heary and Mr. Laurence Irving.

Mise Marion Terry-(From a photo-graph by Histod.)

That prince of comedians and story-tellers, Mr. Lionel Brough, is represented in the present generation by his son, Mr. Sidney Brough, and his daughter, Miss Mary Brough, death having, with busy hands, taken the other members of his family who were winning fame and name on the stage.

Mr. George Grossmith, junior, who is a shining light at the Gaiety, is also as an author keeping the name of Grossmith alive at the Savoy, where, in the person of his father, it originally made its great reputation by the eccentricity of its humour and the lightness of its method. At the Savoy, too, the name is still retained in the bill by the presence of Mr. Grossmith's younger brother, Mr. Lawrence Grossmith.

HEREDITARY STAGE TRADITION.

HEREDITARY STAGE TRADITION.

At Daly's, Mr. Huntley Wright carries on the family tradition, though in his father's company, where he laid the foundation of his future success, he did not act the sort of character with which his name is so pleasantly associated, but parts of melodramatic intensity; while at the Strand, Mr. Farren Soutar and Miss Marie Dainton exhibit the result of an hereditary connection with the stage. No one needs reminding that Mr. Farren Soutar is the son of Miss Nellie Farren, the most popular burlesque actress of our generation; but it is perhaps not so well known that Miss Dainton's mother was also an actress who frequently played in pantomime.

mother was also an actress who frequently played in pantomime.

Miss Carlotta Addison, most charming of simple old ladies, on the stage, has a daughter, who is also an actress, while the list, which could be considerably increased, would not be complete without some mention of Mr. Dion Boucicault and his sister, Miss Nina Boucicault, two of the best actors on the London stage, who inherit the talent of their father, the late Dion Boucicault, not only one of the most famous actors of the Victorian Era but one of its most famous dramatists. For who does not recall "The Shaughraun," "Arrah-na-Pogue," "The Colleen Bawn," and other famous Irish plays, to say nothing of "London Assurance," which has taken its place among the stage classics of the language?

dramatic school where he proposes to teach the art of producing plays with his own particular ideas. At the New Theatre Miss Mabel Terry Lewis, the daughter of Miss Kate Terry, is one of the most popular members of Sir Charles Wyndham's company, as her mother was the most popular actress in her time, while a younger generation of the Terry family is knocking at the door of popularity, in Miss Beatrice Terry, who has won a great success as a child actress.

As a child, Miss Viola Tree, whose debut in "Twellth Night" proved that she possesses in a marked degree the talent of her celebrated father, did not act professionally, though on one occasion when Mr. Tree received a command to play before Queen Victoria, she did appear as one of the pages

"Gringoire," and had the honour of being esented to her late Majesty. An amusing anecte is told of that event, for when Queen Victoria eld out her hand the little girl grasped it and ook it heartily, exclaiming, "How d'ye do,

Sir Henry's repertoire than any other writer. "Peter the Great" was his work, as were the two translations from the French of Sardon, "Robespierre" and "Dante," while Sir Henry also produced "Godefroi and Yolande," in which Miss Ellen Terry played the leading part, and one or two other short plays by his son. Mr. and Mrs. Kendal's son and daughter, who act under the family name of Grimston, are also carrying on the family fame to the new generation. Miss Grimston, it is hardly necessary to remind playagors, is a member of the Garrick Theatre Company, where, in a short time, she has already won a position for herself, while Mr. Grimston acquired a good deal of experience in Australia

Universal Cookery G O L D Royal Albert Hall, & Food Exhibition, MEDAL April, 1904. As Good as Chivers Jellies

DR. ANDREW WILSON,
"Cambridge Lemonade is well known to me, and I can thoroughly recommend it as a most agreeable beverage. It is prepared from selected Lemona, and contains no added add.
Dambridge Lemonade cannot be surpassed."

HIGHEST AWARD.

5 d. per Bottle, sufficient to make 2 Gallons CHIVERS & SONS, Ltd., HISTON, CAMBRIDGE.
FIRST ENGLISH FRUIT GROWERS JAM FACTORY.

Torturing Eczema

ANTEXEMA'

TEST IT FREE OF CHARGE

Don't delay. One 1/11 Bottle

THE LAVENDER COLLAR.

A Wonderful Remedy

For Liver Complaints.

NEURALGIA

ZOX is the Quick

A LEVER WATCH FREE. PER RETURN OF POST.

ONE WHEEL OVER THE PRECIPICE.

Captain Deasy Describes His Sensational Motor Tour in the Alps, and His Narrow Escape from Destruction.

Captain Deasy arrived in London yesterday morning, having made a remarkable journey in the Alps on his 16-20-h.p. Martini motor-car. M. Georges Prade, of the "Auto," was entrusted with the mapping out of a route in the trusted with the mapping out of a route in the Alps. This route included twenty-nine big passes from 3,000 to 9,500 feet high, and was a total of 1,806 miles. Fifteen days were allowed for the journey. It was, however, completed in twelve and a half days. Captain Deasy, who received the gold medal of the Royal Geographical Society for explorations in Central Asia and Chinese Turkestan, shared the driving wiff M. Max de Martini.

Two other passengers—M. H. Massac Buist and M. Georges Prade—were carried throughout, whilst during two and a half days a fifth passenger was carried, in addition to luggage and a hood. The only repairs and adjustments made were changing two tyres and tightening the chains. The brakes were not touched throughout the journey.

over, for there was no wall, not a stone to indicate where the road ceased, and space took its place. And there were fifty such turns in the passage of the Col de Forelaz.

NEARLY PUSHED OVER.

"Yes," continued the Captain, "we had some narrow squeaks. After turning thirty or forty acute corners without encountering anything, one is apt to believe the road is always free from vehicles.

vehicles.

"But on one occasion we swung round a corner, and found ourselves face to face with a three-horsed diligence. We stopped and backed, but to be pushed over the precipice by the two shafts seemed to be inevitable. I gave a loud shout and that arrested the horses, who backed on to their haunches, just clear of us. We were saved.
"But I do not care to remember how near our back wheels were to the crumbling edge of the road.

INCREDULOUS INNKEEPER.

ANOTHER INCH, AND DEATH.

A representative of the Daily Mirror found Captain Deaxy, and in the course of conversation the Captain Deaxy, and in the course of conversation the Captain said that the ascent of the Col de Forclas, was by far the most exciting mountain experience of his lifetime.

A local guide was early in the morning, because the passage must be early in the morning, because there was no room to pass a mule as there was a wall on one side and a precipice on the other. Consequently, a start was made from Marthin at 4.14 a.m.

Corner after corner was encountered, and owing to the length of the car it could only be got round the acute angle by three or four short advances, and three or four short darkings."

"The backings were very exciting," said Captain Deasy, "an inch too far, and all would have been length."

"MIRROR'S" NON-STOP

Automobile Club's Sanction Still Awaited.

The organisation of the Mirror's new non-stop trial of motor-cars is at a stand-still owing to the delay in the receipt of a reply to the application made for the official sanction of the Automobile

The latest addition to those who have approved the conditions and petitioned the club to authorise the trial is Mr. E. H. Arnott, who will drive a 20-h.p. Simms car. Mr. Arnott is a well-known

The Richardson Motor Company, of Lincoln, telegraph that they approve the conditions, and would enter a car, but fear the date may not suit them.

STOLE HIS OWN CAR.

Amusing Experience of a French Automobilist.

To be arrested three times for stealing one's own motor-car is a unique experience, yet this has befallen M. Hervez, a well-known automobilist, in Paris.

A few days ago he left his new car at the door of a restaurant while he entertained some friends at lunch.

No one was left in charge of the car, and upon issuing from the restaurant he was dismayed to find the machine gone, Information was given to the police, and next day the "auto" was found in a ditch not far outside Paris, deserted.

M. Hervez forgot to communicate with the twenty or more police bureaux, which had under-taken to search for the stolen car, and the follow-ing day the lawful owner had therefore the chagrin of being arrested for being in possession of the car, a description of which was in the hands of the car, a description of which was in the hands of the police.

There was much telephoning to and fro, and much excited parleying. Eventually M. Hervez was released, only to be arrested two hours later in another street for the same offence.

Explanations, however, secured his release, but alas! the next day, when touring to Versailles, M. Hervez was once more held up and conveyed to the police station, charged with stealing his machine.

For the third time he proved his ownership, and now he is contemplating a change in the too familiar number of his car,

ROYALTY IN CITY-ROAD.

MOTOR TRIAL. Prince and Princess of Wales Open Leysian Mission.

The Prince and Princess of Wales yesterday opened the "Queen Victoria" Hall of the new Leysian Mission building in the City-road.

Leysian Mission building in the City-road.
Capable of accommodating 2,000 persons, the hall was filled to overflowing, but kept cool by a new method of ventilation, cold air being driven into the hall through water and across ice.
Lord Strathcona explained that the mission was founded in 1886, and from that time until the present had been controlled and supported by past and present scholars of the Leys School at Cambridge. The work and good it had done was incalculable.

and present scholars of the Leys School at Cambridge. The work and good it had done was incalculable.

The Princess was then presented with a small picture of the new buildings beautifully framed indul silver, and her Royal Highness then declared the Queen Victoria Hall open.

The most touching part of a very impressive ceremony was the presentation of purses in aid of the opening fund.

All sorts and conditions were represented, from an exquisitely gowned young lady in dainty white muslin, who proffered a purse containing fifty guineas to a had belonging to the Boys Brigade, who was boudly cheered when he handed his purse with £1 %; niside, which he himself had saved and collected, to the Princess, who thanked him with a kindly smile.

In the open-air roof-garden, which will be a boon to many workers, a commemorative tablet was unveiled, and their Royal Highnesses were then escorted downstairs to tea.

The building is expected to be finished in October, when inaugural meetings will be held.

DRAMATIC WEDDING SCENE.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

At the wedding of a peasant at Tischnowitz, Moravia, the bridegroom's former sweetheart made her appearance, carrying her four-year-old child. As her faithless lover was entering the church she stopped him, calling upon him to remain true to her. Pushing her aside, he entered the church, and the ceremony began.

Just at the moment when the hands of the wedding couple were being joined, the discarded sweetheart rushed in, and tearing off the bride's wreath placed it on her own head, the child meanwhile calling out loudly, "I will have a father."

The unhappy girl was removed, and the wedding proceeded.

EIFFE FOWER

These are the days when you need a drink that is more than simply wet; you want a long, cool, refreshing draught of that most delicious beverage.

TOWER LEMONADE.

Health in every sip, and refreshment in every drop.

THE MEDICAL MAGAZINE says:—

"It is a Lemonade as refreshing and as pleasant to the most critical taste as it is possible to obtain. We cordially recommend it to the notice of the Medical Profession as well as to the general public."

GALLONS FOR 41D.

SEASIDE STORIES.

30. LONG COMPLETE STORIES. INTERESTING AND ENTERTAINING.

AMANT DECLINES THE 'ECLIPSE' STAKES.

Bruised Foot and Hard Going Keep the Colt from the Needed Exercise-Liverpool Cup Betting.

THE KING AT NEWMARKET.

Amant will not run in the Eclipse Stakes next y. It appears the slight accident in twisting ate-result, a bruised foot-has caused a reng of the plans. The colt was eased in his , and the hard ground threw in another diffiis £10,000 race would have been a certainty for Rothschild colt had all gone well in his daily His absence now opens up the race with atirely different brand of interest. The Duke ortland's Darley Dale is very likely to repre the Kingsclere stable, as the Duke of West-der's Rydal Head has not gone on to Porter's faction since the Ascot meeting. St. Denis has on the easy list, so it would appear that the sted of Mr. Musker's stable holds best chance of lot now likely to compete. Mr. Musker can ose from Henry the First, Admiral Breeze, and ich as the Eclipse Stakes appears as a prize it tich as the Eclipse Stakes appears as a prize it of of the same account to Mr. de Rothschild as St. Leger. The Doncaster race, indeed, will far and away the greatest confest of the year, not only shall we have St. Amant and his lish Derby opponents, but M. Blanc will send Ajax and possibly Gouvernant, and against troop will be the peerless Pretty Polly. The nch pair are doing excellent work, and they several engagements in the immediate future.

Leger Betting.

Page 14.

Leger Bettling.

Ice shall see Pretty Polly at Goodwood at the of the present month. But meantime, there is ight disposition to oppose the filly for the St. A prominent bookmaker yesterday offered freels to eighttes against her. One need scarcely surprised at such offers being current. The hap to St. Amant shows the daily risks to which see in training are subject, and some eight ks have yet to elapse before the arrival of Leger dewmarket second July meeting opens to-day, I however the racing turns out the gathering I, of course, be socially a brillant success. The ag will be present, and a majority of the ricians of the Turf. His Majesly drove down n London to Newmarket yesterday in his motor-com London to Newmarket yesterday in his motorate.

The July sales are of the first importance. In onnection with the sale of Mr. John Gubbins's grees one remembers the trainer, S. Darling, from those stables went out all the great winners in the olet silks. And everybody will hear with regretenews published this morning of the death by nowning of one of Mr. Darling's sons. Some betting at last appears on the Liverpool up. Bachelor's Button and Kano are covered to the second of the market. Foundling also very much fancied, and this winner of the don Cup, coupled with Bachelor's Button, is also they are the death of the death by the second of the second

SELECTIONS FOR TO-DAY.

NEWMARKET.

NEWMARKET,

4. 0.—Trial Plate—ASSIOUT,

30.—Soltykoff Stakes—RIVAULX,

5. 0.—Dullingham Plate—WILD QATS,

3.30.—Beaufort Stakes—CHACORNAC,

6. 0.—Spring Hall Selling—Copper King,

4.0.—Sking Hall Selling—Copper King,

4.30.—Khedive Plate—Full Cry.

SPECIAL SELECTION.

FULL CRY. GREY FRIARS.

THE TWO BEST THINGS.

Wiring from Newmarket last night "the Squire"

"The Newmarket Second July meeting will com-ice to-morrow. I think the following may prove good double:—

1. 0.—Trial Plate—Glandore.

30.—Soltykoff Stakes—Llangibby."

POINTERS FROM THE BOOK.

he following have good form to their credit in book, and may run well at Newmarket to-day os, and may run wen at sewmarket to-da;

Trial Plate—Assiour.

—Soltykoff Stakes—LLANGIBBY.

—Dullingham Plate—FOUNDLING.

—Beaufort Stakes—COUNTERMARK.

—Spring Hall Selling—COLDEN TOUCH.

—Khedive Plate—FULL CRY.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME.

NEWMARKET.

2.0-TRIAL PLATE of 200 sovs; winner to be sold for 400 sovs, of for 200 sovs, allowed 7lb. B.M. (one

2.0 — TRIAL MATTE of 200 sors, allowed 75 be that for mile).

Mr. G. Lambon's Stealaway — Owner 8 11 Mr. W. Wangia Compliment — Owner 8 11 Mr. W. Wangia Compliment — Owner 6 12 Mr. W. Wangia Compliment — Owner 6 12 Mr. W. Wangia Complement — Owner 6 12 Mr. Loopold the Rothschild's Owner (£200) — Watson 4 8 7 Mr. H. J. King's Chacornac (£200) — Suited Lack 8 4 Mr. H. J. King's Chacornac (£200) — Lack 8 4 Mr. B. E. Higham's Addiestone — Mr. Gilpin 3 8 2 Mr. Schlesinger's Up Wolf's Orga-Nestling Day 3 7 13 Counts de Bertuary (£200)

Count de Berteux's Mulligatawny ($200) Day 5 7 7

Mr. Ernest Dresden's Gambe ($200) Jennings 3 7

Mr. G. W. Golding Bilble ($200) Archer 3 7

Mr. E. W. Lambion's Lithurn ($200) 3 7

Mr. E. W. Lambion's Lithurn ($200) 3 7

Mr. J. T. Wood's Glandore ($200) .... Watson 3 7

ABOVE ARRIVED.

PREVIOUS FORM.

COMPLIMENT has shows good form this year. Won the Monson Handicep with 88; 71b at Lincoln in June, beating Nippon, Felockee and Va Ve. 6 fur.

MALADROIT has sported silk five tithes this year. Carrying 8t 12b ton-lissed with De Isle in the Withaut and State of the State of t whether BANCER has early been out of the with the transcent in With 10st raw second to Giglto [10sis] at Sandown Park in June. Im.

ASSIOUY [95s] won the Eisham Handisap from Dovelis (7st 12b), and Mitrablinch [7st 7b) in March at Lincoin. [9st 12b] and Mitrablinch [7st 7b] in March at Lincoin. [9st 12b] by 2 st 2b) by 2 lengths from Panny Masters (8st 13b). Was beaten a short head by Campbor at the last Newmarket meeting. Jim.

ing. Im.

MESTLING FILLY (6st 9lb) beat Uncle Marcus (7st 1lb) and Southern Queen (7st 1lb) in the Milton Stakes at Doncastor in May. 1m and Southern Queen [74; 11b] in the Millon Stakes at Don-caster in May, 1m.

RAYLEIGH (2bt 4lb) was beaton a head by Ebbefleet [74; 7]b) in the Park Mile Handicap at Window in June.
[74; 7]b) and Holl Mark filly (75) at Kempton Park in May. 1m.
GLANDORK [74st beat Felo-d-Se (8st, Guilty [74, 10]b) in the Newark Handicap at Nothinpham last Tuesday, 6 fur.
in the Newark Handicap at Nothinpham last Tuesday, 6 fur.

2 - 90 - SOLITYKOFF STAKES of 5 sove such for state T.Y.C. (for furlow) 140 yards.

Mr. L. Neumann's Linaghby ards, Mr. Gipin Mr. L. Neumann's Linaghby Mr. Gipin Mr. Arthur James's Chain Stitch R. Marsh Miss Glinton's Crystal Butters Mr. Arthur James's Mrabelle R. Marsh Miss Glinton's Crystal Butters Mr. Arthur James's Mrabelle R. Marsh Miss Glinton's Crystal Ris Majesty's Pendata Win Mr. F. Bibby's Moniseur Beaucaire C. Waugh Lord Bradford's Sir Hector Goldings Fr. E. Cassel's Prudent King Mr. F. Lambton Sir E. Cassel's Prudent King Mr. F. Lambton Miss Glinton's Herbanum Butters Sir Maurice Fitsfershidt Mid Air R. Sherwood Lord Bradford's Sir Hector
Sir E. Cassel's Prudent King ... Mr
Miss Clinton's Rubin
Miss Clinton's Herbanum
Sir Maurice FitzGerseld's Mid Air
Sir R. Waldie Griffith's c by Isinglas

one E. Wanne Griffith's r by Ininghab-Las Mr. T. Singnon Jay's Ornazal ... 3. 48 Mr. Jersey's c by Aurum H.-Fast ... 3. 48 Mr. Jersey's c by Aurum H.-Fast ... 3. 48 Mr. W. Raphasi's Sir Francis ... b. Sir E. Yinccus's Rivalt ... Mr. A. Bolmont's Forment ... Mr. A. Bolmont's Forment ... Mr. Mr. D. Boughas Baird's Mr. A. Bolmont's Forment ... Mr. Doughas Baird's Miramar Colonel E. W. Baird's Queen of the Lilles ... Mr. D. U. Bodge's Child's Nun. Law Mr. U. Bodge's Child's Nun Fairie's Fioramour.

U. Hodge's Child's Nun

Howard de Walden's Fleid Sable

Howard de Walden's Spunglass

R. W. B. Jardine's f by Queen's Bin

iar tay's Tedworth Will Low's by Velasquez-Meta III. Picker Luccombe's Leandro C. Will Low's Bright August C. William C. Portland's Misty Mr. G. Lamb T. Pulley's Strathglass G. Chale Towe's Mariliam C. Picker C. Picker C. William C. William C. Picker C. William C. William C. Picker C. William C. Willia and Constant of the Constant o Lord Hichester's c-by Gallinule-La Jole Re Mr. S. Plat's St. Lazare Mr. J. Porter Porter's Special Pleader Mr. W. M. G. Singer's c-by St. Serf-Hear H

A. Taylor 8 Mr. T. P. King's Rapid Flier ... G. Kilwards 6 S. PAPER SELECTIONS.—Jockey—Linnibly or Crystal. Chillon's Guide-Linnibly of Frinden King. Raeshorsen Children Control Control

PREVIOUS FORM.

LLANGIBBY (8st 10lb) beat Shah Jehan (8st 10lb) and elim (8st 10lb) in the New Stakes at Ascot last month. ILANGIBBY (8st 101b) beat 8hah Jehan (8st 101b) and Selim (8st 101b) in the New Stakes at Ascot last month 5 (tr. 144 yds.)

5 (tr. 144 yds.)

15 (tr. 144 yds.)

16 (tr. 144 yds.)

16 (tr. 144 yds.)

17 (tr. 144 yds.)

18 (tr. 145 yds.)

18

3.0 DULLINGHAM PLATE of 1,000 sovs; se coive 100 sovs. Suffolk Stakes Course	scond to re coive 100 soys. Suffolk Stakes Course	one mil wrs at 1
Mr. L. Brassey's Wild Oats	4 9 1
Sir E. Cassel's Exchequer Mr. F. Lambton	4 9 1
Sir J. Miller's RondeauBlackwel	1 4 9 1
Mr. W. M. G. Singer's Bellivor Tor A. Taylor	6 9
Mr. R. H. Henning's Foundling Brewer	3 8 1
Mr. J. M. Kerne's Newsboy Robinson	3 6 1
Mr. A. L. Duncan's Extradition Blackwell
Mr. J. Pincus's Proffer Owner	1 4 8
Mr. J. Pincus's ProfferOwner	3 8
Mr. Herbert Musker's Forest Flower Gilbert	t 4 8

Count de Bertoux's Mulligatawny .... Jennings 5 7 12 Lord Rosebery's Jolly Beggar .... Blackwell 5 7 12 His Majesty's Ortolan .... B. Marsh 5 7 9 Mr. W. Hall Walker's Jona's Folly ... Robinson Captian Greef 8B. Day ... Darling Captian Greef 8B. Day ... Darling Mr. J. Gubbinson Captian Greef 8B. Day ... Darling Mr. J. C. Sulliva's Winkfield's Fortune Greef Mr. J. S. Curtin's Sone ... Whitfield Mr. O. Perkins's Baredails ... J'Anson Mr. J. S. Outrin's Guekard ... Whitfield Mr. J. S. Curtin's Guekard ... Whitfield Mr. J. S. Outrin's Guekard ... Whitfield ... Whitfield ... The Mr. J. S. Outrin's Guekard ... Whitfield ...

WILD OATS (St 10lb) won the Rous Memorial at Ascot on June 16 from Equire (74 db) and Isleaman (7st 10lb). Uninsured was fourth and last, 7 far, 166 yards, On the previous day WILD OATS ran third to Castala (7st 5th) and Hazal in the Royal Hunt Cup.

Alexandra Park this nonth. Hands Bown (8s. 6tb) weecond, and Captain Kettle (6st 40b) thirt. Int. 2 tur.

9 20 — BEAUFOUT STAKES (welter handlerp) of consecution starters, with 300 cars and 6st and the starters, with 300 cars and 6st and

ABOVE ARRIVED. Sir John Thursby's Fighting Furley . G. Edwards Mr. F. C. Irish's Over Norton . . . . Lowe Colonel R. L. Birkin's Vive Le Roi . E. Martin

PAPER SELECTIONS. Jockey—Spinning Minnow on's Guide—Salute. Racehorse—Hazaff and Char porting World—Countermark. Racing World—He Orphrey. PREVIOUS FORM.

HAZAF! (3at 210 wait unplaced to Oat 5 Sight (8at 51b), Nabot (6at 71b), and wait unplaced to Oat 5 Sight (8at 51b), Nabot (6at 71b), and wait of the Control of C

Bit R. Waldie Griffith's t by seed.

Lord Howard de Walden's Lamon. Beatty
R. T. Jennings Merry. Overact
W. T. Jennings Merry. Overact
Mr. D. J. Pullinger's Copper King. Marse
Lord Wolverton's Obdies Touch. R. Marsh
Lord Wolverton's Obdies Touch. R. Marsh
Lord Wolverton's Chys. Jugates—Oold
R. Marsh
Hallick

Chev. E. Ginistrelli's g by All Moonshine Ring

GOLD CREST FILLY, 68t 61bl was last but one to Claque-foil (9st 10b), 8t, Kilda (8st 9b), and Sautry (9st 10b) in the Runy Farty Varring Fiste in May, 10 7am. 6 far-tism (6st 7b), and eight others, at Nottingham last Monday, 5th 10 farty 10 far

4 20-KHEDIVE PLATE of 300 sovs, for two-y

Miss Clinton's RubiniButters	st
Miss Clinton's RubiniButters	8	7
Mr. Ernest Dresden's Melrose IIArcher	8	. 7
Lord Durham's Cyrus P. Peck	R	7
Lord Durham's Cyrus	8	7
Mr. J. Hammond's Woodchuck	8	.7
Mr. R. H. Henning's Rouge CroixBrewer	8	7
Mr. H. H. Minn's Compelier Const.	8	7
Mr. H. J. King's Comedian	8	7
Mr. J. B. Leigh's Perth MedleyG. Chaloner	8	7
Mr. L. de Rothschild's c by Gallinule-Verdina	8
Mr. L. de Rotaschild's c by Gamaule-Verdina	-
Sir E. Vincent's Reggio	8	7
Bir E. Vincent's Reggio	8	7
Lord Wolverton's c by Ugly-Lecture R. Marsh	8	7
Sir E. Cassel's EgyptMr. F. Lambton	8	4
Mr. F. W. Day's CessationOwner	8	4
Duke of Devonshire's Full Cry	8	4
Duke of Devonshire's f by Cherry Treo-Strike a
Light	8	4
Captain J. G. R. Homfray's f by Wolf's Crag-		100
Sakkarah	R	4
Mr. H. Ingram's f by Missel Thrush-Simon's
Queen J. Cannon	R	4
Mr. L. Neumann's NirvanahMr. Gilpin	8
Mr. A. Stedall's BlamelessSadler, jun.	8	4
Mr. F. Grettin's f by Bend Or-AlixPorter	8	4
Mr. S. B. Joel's Worcester China	8
	0	4
ABOVE ARRIVED.		100
or the ministration of the t	-	-

FELEOSE 11. (est 210) was accounted in the Princess Plate Ca. MID AIR (7st 12lb) ran fourth in the Princess Plate tha last meeting at Newmarket. FULL CRY (7st 9lb) as was beaten a head by Galangal (7st 12lb). Sweet Mart filly was third, and CESSATION (7st 9lb) unplaced in the same COMEDIAN (8st 10lb) was beaten eight lengths by yanean (8st 7lb) at Newcastle last month, 5 fur.

NEWMARKET GALLOPS.

At Newmarket yesterday F. W. Hardy rode Antonion a test over a mile with Padlock II., who was easily eaten. Amant galloped six furlongs at a smart pace at

LATEST BETTING.

LIVERPOOL CUP, London, Monday.

LATEST SCRATCHINGS.

Besufort Handicap, Newmarket.—Best Light,
T.Y.O. Sale Stakes.—Lord Wick.
Chesterfield Stakes.—Romuler
Chesterfield Stakes.—Bomuler
Chesterfield Stakes.—Bomuler
Chesterfield Stakes.—Bomuler
Leicester engagements.—Salvador, Lucinda, Tin Soldier,
ady Beth, and Cockstrice.

Leicester engagements.—Salvador, Lucinda, Tin Soldier,
ady Beth, and Cockstrice.

Rowalcy Dimens Stakes, Liverpool.—Diavena, Knowalcy Dimens Stakes, Liverpool.—Dexter,
Southport T.Y.O. Plate, Liverpool.—Dexter,
Southport T.Y.O. Plate, Liverpool.—Dexter,
Lind Off. and Standen.
Great Kingxion T.Y.O. Race, Sandown.—Co-pariner,
All published handicaps at Sandown.—All Mr. J. O.
All engagements in Lord Falmouth's name.—Janet's Roice.

Liverpool.—Jan. Parks.

Choice.

All published handicaps.—Papols.
All engagements.—Stitches colt, Valentine colt, and Lady Help.
All engagements in Mr. Reid Walker's name.—Dinzdale.

MR. DARLING'S SON DROWNED.

Mr. Sam Darling, the Beckhampton trainer, sustained a sad bereavement on Sunday by the death, from drowning, of Ernest, his second son.
Young Darling was bathing in the river at Christian Malfoot, near Chippenham, and was seized with heart failure whilst in the water. Although his companions, he sank before a rescue could be effected.
The unfortunate young nan, was only tweaty-two years of age. His body was recovered after half an hour, but all efforts to restore animation proved unavoiling.

BURGLARY SEASON.

How Careless Householders Assist Cunning Thieves.

With the opening of windows and doors in the heat the housebreaking season commences.

Daylight robberies, delicately planned and daringly executed, disturb the domestic serenity of London and suburbs daily. At Streatham, it may be, or Brixton, Mr. House-

Ingly executed, disturb the domestic serenity of London and suburbs daily.

At Streatham, it may be, or Brixton, Mr. Housebreaker, who looks respectable and attracts no adverse criticism in the street, steps in after lunch and takes away the family plate. He chooses the few minutes intervening between the time the lunchers rise and the servants come to clear.

He has been known to drive up with a van and caimly remove the household goods in a single fell swoop. He is proteau in disguises, and brings and the control of the con

REVOLTING PRACTICE.

The Stepney Borough Council have had under The Stephey borogal councer have and under consideration a sensational report from their medical officer of health, Dr. Thomas, who points out that in a large number of places in the borough cats'-meat is boiled in the same boiling-room and most probably in the same boilers as human food. Cats'-meat, he adds, is often sold at the same shop as meat intended for human consumption.

RUNS CHEAP AT LORD'S.

Perrin and Gillingham Collar the Middlesex Bowling in a Great Partnership.

TWO BRILLIANT CENTURIES.

Winning the toss at Lord's yesterday, and going in on a very fast wicket, Essex gave a splendid display of hitting, their score at half-past six standing at 445, with a very fast wicket, Essex gave a splendid display of hitting, their score at half-past its standing at 448, with only seven men out.

Up to a certain point there was no suggestion of such a success as this, for, though Fane and Perrin put on 82 runs together, there wickets were down after little more than an hour's cricket for 69. Then, however, came a great partnership by Perrin and the Rev. F. H. Gillingsham, who, in two hours and a half, carried the score to 266. Both batsmen played very finely indeed, and rarely seemed in any difficulty with the bowling. At Innel-time the total was 120, and when a ten interval was taken, at half-past four, it had reached 259.

Just after the game had been resumed Perrin was out minings—marked from first to last by the utmost case and confidence. He was very quiet as he neared his hundred, but hit afterwards with great brilliancy. His driving was, as usual, a model of power and good timing, and he three hours, he hit fourteen $4.5.

Not much sting was left in the Middlesex bowling, and on Sewell joining Gillingham, the ball was knocked all over the field, 125 runs being added in seventy nitutes. catch at deep-point.

At the finish Gillingham was not-out 189, having for four hours and a quarter played almost faultiess cricket. He made one or two diagerous strokes, but his great sa finely as Perrin.

ESS	EX.
Carpenter, c Trott b Rawlin 0 F. L. Fane, c Trott b Hearne 27 P. Perrin, lbw b Trott134 C. McGahey, b Trott 1 Rev. F. H. Gillingham, not out	McIver, c Nicholls b Hearne

esex Team.—P. F. Warner, E. A. Beldam, B. J. T. Let, C. C. Pilkington, R. E. More, R. W. Nicholls Gregor, C. P. Foley, Rawlin, Trott, and Hearne

SLOW SCORING AT TUNBRIDGE WELLS

youred by a continuation of the glorious weather hally enjoyed, cricket could not have been played ar more delightful conditions than prevailed at Tun ew Wells yesterday, when the annual week com menced.

Fry had to stand out of the match owing to the death of a relative. Raujisinhji's reappearance to some extent culties which batsmen found in scoring marked the game throughout the afternoon. In the course of five hours and ten minutes' actual play twelve wickets fell for an sughout the atternoon. In the course or now nous it ten minutes' actual play twelve wickets fell for an uregate of 285 runs. heard of the state of the pitch, ich seemed true and of a fairly easy pace, but are time did the bat ever master the ball. Sussex took on twelve o'clock to twenty minutes to six, with ervals amounting to an hour, over their innings of and the seement of th

, and he was fourn out at by, uses, s and a quartie, by adding 59 in an hour, when the side were out for 10°, brightened the game somet, and Butt and Co. put on 39 for the hinth partnert, and Butt and Co. put on 39 for the hinth partnert, when 2, or Sussex would have fared still worse, ewhom batted very well, scoring his 44 in an hour thirty-five minutes without a mistake, retent score and analysis:—

£ USS	SEX.
Brann (G.), c Huish b. Mason 9 Vine, c Fairservice b Fielder 45 Killick, c Blythe b Mason 8 Reif, c Blaker b Fielder 1 W. Sewham, c Bilon 4 K. S. Ranjitsinhji, c Esymout b Blythe 13	C. L. A. Smith, c. Hutchings b Blythe 26 Leach, c. Humphreys b Mason Cox, c. Huish b Humphreys b Butt, not out 18 Extras C. State C. St
KE	NT.
E. W. Dillon, b Relf 9 Humphreys, c Ranjit- sinhji b Cox 8 Seymeur, not out 10 C. H. B. Marsham, J. 1 R. N. R. Blaker, Huish, Fair	Total (2 wkts) 37 R. Mason, K. L. Hutchings

BOWLING ANALYSIS. BUSSEX.—First limings.

0. m. r. w.
30. m. r. w.
30. 1 9 67 3 Mason .... 25 10 40 4
30. 18 32 2 Humphreys 6 2 11 1
11 10 bowled six and Mason three no-balls.

VIVIAN CRAWFORD HITS WELL

Having the good fortune to win the toss, the Leicester eleven stayed in on an excellent wicket all the afternoon at Nottingham periverday, and in the cuture of about five. The innings closed at twenty minutes past six, and upon its conclusion stumps were drawn for the day. With the conditions entirely in favour of run-getting, which the conditions entirely in favour of run-getting trungs, and all day long runs came at a good pace; the batting, too, was quite consistent, only two men failing to reach double figures. Gave their side a good start, the former, missed when 30, hitting up 44 out of the first 55 in forty minutes.

55 in forty minutes.

The best form was shown by Vivian Crawford. Going in at the fall of the second wicket, at 74, he hit magnificently for two hours and fifty minutes, scoring 160 out of might have been caught at 10 ng. off, had jones judged the flight of a hard drive properly, and he was nearly taken at mid-off, Day, indeed, being under the impression that he had made a fair catch.

These, however, were small blemishes in a delightful display of well-timed and powerful driving, that included tearly three 4 s.

light probably, the Notts fieldsmen near the boundary did not judge the ball well until late in the afternoon.

LEICESTERSHIRE

SOUTH AFRICANS IN FORM.

SOUTH AFRICANS IN FORM.

The outstanding feature of the cricket at Taunton yesterday was the brilliant first-wicket partnership by Tancred and Shalders for the South Africans. By Tancred and Shalders for the South Africans. Southern was complete mastery over the county bowling, and getting within 40 of the total of Somersetshire's innings before they were separated. Nother made a roam strake, though Shalders was fortunate in Carterdon in this county of the second of the sec

Braund, c Halliwell b   22   Lewis, b Kotze	Hardy, c Shalders b Sin- clair 5 Bucknell, ibw b Schwarz 7 Cranfield, b Schwarz 8 Rev. A. P. Wickham, c White b Kotze 10 Extras 14
H. Martyn, b Schwarz 23	Total198
	FRICANS.
L. J. Tancred, c Wick- ham b Lewis 73 W. A. Shalders, c Lewis b	J. Sinclair, c Woods b Lewis
Braund 81-	b Lewis 3
M. Hathorn, c Wickham	R. O. Schwarz, not out 33
b Lewis 12	S. Snooke, not out 6
G. C. White, c Bucknell	Extras 8
b Braund 4

G. H. Shepstone, E. A. Halliwell, and J. J. Kotze to bat. BOWLING ANALYSIS ON THE STATE OF THE STATE O

HUGE SCORE BY TYLDESLEY.

The Lancabire eleven had a full day's batting at Worcester yesterday, and scored 419 for a completed imings. They made runs with the greatest care, and although Worcestershire bore their long and tiring outing remarkably well-for the day was a tropical one-their bowling was never loose; it was simply ineffective on the perfect princip prepared for the match-andicapped by an injury to Gaukodger, whom Wheldon replaced behind the stumps.

Workesteraus:

to Gaakodger, whom Wheldon repused the construction of the day's cricket was a magnificent in the great feature of the day's cricket was a magnificent in the great feature of the day's cricket was a magnificent three century. He had previously scored 193 against Notts at Trent and 255 against Notts at Trent and 195 against N

Someset at Manchester and 225 against Notis at Trem-Bridge.

Tyldesley was batting for three hours and twenty minutes, and his his included thirty 4's, and did not give a chance until he had made 149, when he skied a bail from Burross, which Wilson at mid-off, should have through the slips, and at 160 he should have been taken at the wicket off Pearson. Still, allowing for these two defects, it was a great innings.

MacLaren, Hallows, and Sharp also batted well, and at one period it seemed as though Lancashire would love of the tail end, and, with the thadows coming across the ground, he was rather awkward to play. Burns in catching Tyldesleys spitt his hand so badly that he had to have it bound up by a medical man, and it is quite possible that he will take no further part in the game. Persent score and analysis.—

LANCASHIER.

Worcestershire Team.—H. K. Foster, W. B. Burns, G. H. mpson-Hayward. Bowley, Pearson, Arnold, Gaukrodger,

	. 1	BOW	LI	1G	ANALYSIS.
	LA	NCAS	ни	E.	First Innings.			r. w 54 ( 98 ) 46 (
-	0.	m.	r.	w.	The second second	0.	m.
Simpson-	1000	EVIN	162		Burrows	11	-
yward .	16 -	.0	59	1	Bird	28	3
d 28	5.1	2	65	1	Pearson	- 9	. 0	46
n	18	.1.	82	6	W
		Bird	bo	wle	d one wide.

NICE AND HAYWARD SAVE SURREY.

The Surrey batting was not at its best at Edgbaston esterday, for on a perfect wicket four hours were occuied in scoring 288 runs. At one time, when five wickes ree down for 85 runs, and the result of the state of the state

Lynes is Warwickshire born, and was tried for the county some six or seven years ago against Lancashire, but Lynes is Warwickshire bern, and was tried for the county some six or seven years ago against Lancashire, but met with no success.

The Surrey innings presented some curious features. Abel, Hayes, and Raphael all failed before lunch, and total when the fourth wicket fell.

He played delightful cricket for sixty-five minutes, hitting seven seven the found wicket fell.

Eas played a dashing innings, driving particularly well. He was out to a brilliant one-handed catch at point. Nice, who went in seventh wicket down, carried out his hat for a grandly hit 63 out of 121, made in an driving was very powerful. The third the first his chief strokes were cight 4's.

The Warwickshire had an lour and twenty minutes' batting before the close, and in that time Fishwick and Kinneir sourced 79 runs, so with all the wickets in hand they are left runs behind.

WARWICKSHIRE.
First Innings.—Fishwick (not out) 49, Kinnier (not out) 27, extras 3; total (for no wicket), 79. A. E. S. Glover, Quaife, Charlesworth, Lilley, J. F. Byrne, Whittle, Moorhouse, Lynes, and Hargreave to bat.

| BOWLING ANALYSIS. | SURREY.—First Innings. | 0, m. r. w. | 0, t. | 1, t. t. | 1

CENTURIES BY TUNNICLIFFE AND HIRST.

CENTURIES BY TURNICLIFFE AND HIRST.

In their renum nated with Hampshire at Portsmouth yesterday Yuchahine had the good fortune to win the toss, and on a fine fast wicker ran up the big score of 468 for the loss of seven batsmen, making these runs in the course of five and a half hours' play.

The early play suggested a different result to the day's play, the Hampshire men bowling steadily, and fielding smartly, that an hour and a half from the start of the game there were three wickets down for the start of the game there were three wickets down for the start of the game there were three wickets down for the start of the game there were three wickets down for the start of the game there were three wickets down for the start of the game there were three wickets down for the start of the game there were three wickets down for the start of the game there were three with the game three were the start of the game three were the Hampshire attack that they stayed together for two hours and fifty minutes, putting on during that time no lewer than 258 runs. Despite the pace at which they cover than 258 runs. Despite the pace at which they cover than 258 runs. Despite the pace at which they cover than 258 runs. Despite the pace at which they cover than 258 runs. Despite the pace at which they cannot have been caught behind the wicket from the stroke by which he completed his hundred, but Hirst, to far as could be seen, gave no chance at all. The stroke by which he completed his hundred, but Hirst, to far as could be seen, gave no chance at all. Well taken at hy Sprot running from square-legs. Hirst, who have not previously made a century in an intercounty match this season, although often near it, gave made his runs mainly by cuts and pulls. Included in his score were ninsteen 45 season and pulls. Included in his score were ninsteen 45 season and pulls. Included in his score were ninsteen 45 season and pulls. Included in his score were ninsteen 45 season and pulls. Included worm-out bowling in such merciless fashion tha

YORKSHIRE.
Chignell 34 Denton, c Llewellyn b Haigh, b Prichard 18 Tunnicliffe, c Chignell b Webb 128 Hirst, c Sprot b Chignell 152 To	ht, c Brutton b d
Myers and Hunter to bat,

Hampshire Team.—E. M. Sprot, A. J. I. Hill, Webb, Llewellyn, S. Brutton, Bowell, F. H. Bacon, Stone, T. A. Chignell, Soar, and Hesketh-Prichard.

SURREY SECOND v. GLAMORGANSHIRE. This two-day match was commenced at the Oval yesterday, and when stumps were drawn the teores were—Gurey 190 (1 min or 190 min or 1

CENTURIES OF THE DAY.

There was some more heavy scoring than four batsmen hitting up 150 and list is as follows:—	g yesterday, no fewer d upwards. The full	-
Total. Batsmen.	Time. Best hits.	1
196 Tyldesley (Lancs)	170 min. 23 4's	ч
152 Hirst (Yorks)	170 min. 19 4's	1

CANTABS' CYCLING TRIALS.

This afternoon the Cambridge University Bicycle Club will engage with Dublin University B.C. in a series of events in accordance with time-honoured custom. To event in accordance with time-honoured custom. To event in a constant of the constant of the Crystal Palace track yesterday afternoon. The first was a quarter-mile "flying," time test, the best performance being that of M. M. Woods (Clare College), who rode the distance in 27 1-5sec. O. L. Prowde (St. John s) was second in 30 1-5sec., while A. L. Collego, the constant of the const

The England team v. South Africans at Lord's on Thursday will be;—G. McGregor (captain), K. S. Ranitsinhi, G. L. Jessop, G. W. Beldam, W. H. B. Evans, another, C. B. Fry, who had promised to play, is prevented by a domestic bereavement.

POPE'S PERSONAL MAGNETISM.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

BUDAPEST, Monday.

Much comment has been aroused by a curious story relating to a schismatical Hungarian officer who had an audience with the Pope, to whom he maively expressed his strong personal admiration and veneration. The Pope, it is said, was so touched that he declared it mattered not to him whether the officer was a Roman Catholic or not—he could only regard him as a son.

On leaving the Vatican, the officer went at once to a monastery to prepare for his admission to the Roman Catholic Church.

SMALL BOY'S FATE.

An order by the Swansea justices that Alfred Owen, a small boy, should be sent to a reformatory

Owen, a small boy, should be sent to a reformatory for five years for stealing sevenpence was quashed by the High Court yesterday.

On May 7 last the boy was fourteen years and four months old. At the end of five years he would be over nineteen, and to keep a boy over nineteen in a reformatory would be contrary.

Parliament.

The Lord Chief Justice and Jus and Phillimore decided that the chold good.

hold good.

ANGLESEY'S AFFAI

That noble exile, the Marquis of probably find his affairs soon straigh ciently to enable him to return to his ciently to enable him to return to his

As it is impossible, owing to the m of his assets, to say whether he is really insolvent, no order in bankruptcy has yet been issued against him.
Yesterday a meeting of his trustees and solicitors was held to consider the report of experts on the Anglesey jewels, and to determine the Marquis's exact financial position. A statement showing justhow things stand will be published within a few days.

DIVORCED WIFE'S WITNESS.

In defending herself at North London Police Court against a charge of stealing a blanket from her landlady, a woman named Alice Lockie called her husband as witness.

He said the prisoner was not his wife, as he had divorced her at the beginning of the year. "But the decree has not been made absolute yet," the woman protested.

The magistrate fined her 20s. or seven days' imprisonment in default.

WHERE "SEERS" ARE DISCOURAGED.

Advices from Kabul, dated the 14th inst., state that some astrologers recently prophesied in the Ameer's presence that Afghanistan would within two months be visited by a pestilence which would sweep away hundreds of the inhabitants. The seers have been put into prison, and will be tortured to death if their prediction is not verified.— Reuter.

AMERICAN TRAIN TELESCOPED.

NEW YORK, Monday.

A train conveying an excursion party from Hoboken, New Jersey, stopped at Midvale yesterday for water. A passenger train, unable to see the excursion train, owing to its being hidden by a curve, crashed into the rear of it and telescoped the two last cars. Out of 800 persons in the train seventeen were killed.—Reuter.

SIGNATURES LIKE PRESCRIPTIONS.

The Marquis of Londonderry yesterday received a deputation of medical men in favour of the compulsory teaching of hygiene and the nature and effect of alcohol in public elementary schools.

A petition signed by 1,471 members of the medical profession included 110 which were illegible.

LAWN TENNIS.

The annual competitions for the London Lawn Tennis, Champhonships were commenced at Queen's Club, West Kennington, yesterday. Results:

Gentlemen's Championship of London.—Open Singles.

Flist round: M. J. G. Ritchie beat J. B. Ward (6-4, 6-1, 6-3); R. B. Hough beat A. C. Fearson (6-2, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1); R. B. Hough beat A. C. Fearson (6-2, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3); H. S. Mahony beat C. Hardey, R. F. Doherty scratched; R. S. Barnes beat Baron Schneider (6-2, 6-3, 6-3); H. S. Mahony beat C. Hardley, R. F. Doherty scratched; R. S. Barnes beat Baron Schneider (6-2, 6-3, 6-3); H. S. Mahony beat C. Hardley, R. F. Doherty scratched; R. S. Barnes beat Baron W. J. H. J. Barnes Barnes W. J. Lancaster (3-6, 6-2, 8-6, 7-5); H. R. Fussell beat "Glen" (3-6, 6-4, 6-2); S. M. J. Lancaster (3-6, 6-2); S. M. J. Lancaster (3-6, 6-2); S. M. J. Lancaster (3-6, 6-4); Many Baron W. J. Lancaster (3-6, 6-4); S. M. J. Lancaster (3-

Fighting Furley broke down whilst contesting the Members' Plate at Salisbury on Thursday last, and in consequence will not be seen out for some time: The aged son of Colorado is entered for two races at New market to-day—the Beaufort Stakes and the Trial Plate, with imitations. Have the purgst, the best, the most delicious. Milk-Chocolate was solely invented by Monsieur D. PETER. There is only one "Original" and that is PETER'S. No imitation approaches this in purity, charm, and delicacy.

PUT

To get the only genuine original, the most popular and exquisite sweetmeat the

See that the name "PETER" is on every packet, and refuse spurious substitutes, which are disappointing, and frequently adulterated with foreign fats, rendering them indigestible.

PETER'S is absolutely pure and equally appreciated by young and old. It is at once a dainty sweetmeat and a nourishing food, and for Picnic Parties, At Homes, &c., &c., as well as for children, athletes, and everybody, the most bewitching delicacy

Buy a packet TO-DAY for yourself, sweetheart, wife, or child; but be sure you get PETER'S, the original Milk-Chocolate.

Sold by all Confectioners and Stores. 1d., 8d., 6d, and 1s. Tablets, Croquettes, &c. Wholesale only from S. J. MACKENZIE and Co., Ltd., Shacklewell Lane, London, N.E.

Small Advertisements

are received at the offices of the "Daily Mirror," 35 and 46, New Bond Street, W., and 2, Carmelite Street, E.C., between the hours of 30 and 5 (Saturdays, 10 to 2), for insertion in the issue of the following day, at the rate of 12 words 1/. (dl. each word afterwards). Advertisements, if sent by post, must be accompanied by postal orders crossed BARCLAY and OO. (stamps will not be accepted).

"Daily Mirror" advertisers can have replies to their advertisements sent free of charge to the "Daily Mirror" offices, a box department having been opened for that purpose. If replies are to be forwarded, sufficient stamps to cover postage must be sent with the advertisement.

SITUATIONS VACANT.

OOK-GENERAL wanted at once; very comfortable place; 2 in family, and 2 children; 2 servants; wages 0-£22.—Call to-day, Mrs. R., 45, New Bond-st, W.

JRSE (Children's) wanted for Blackheath; 2 children; wages £24.—Write Y. N., Bond-st Bureau, 45, New undest.

URSE (Children's) wanted for Hounslow; one child of 3; must be good needlewoman; wages k18-622.—Write
H, Bond-t Bureau, 45, New Bond-tt.
URSERY-GOVERNESS wanted; one little girl, aged 7445, Highfield-rd, Donesster, CULLERY-MAID wanted at once, for York; wages £12;
Write Y. S. Bond-t Bursau, 45, New Bond-tt.

VANTED, House-parlourmaid, for Chertsey; wages £20-£22; 2 in family; 2 servants.—Please call 45, New ANTED. House-parlourmsid, for Pembridge-square; wages £20.£25.—Please call 45. New Bondest.

ANTED. House-parlourmaid, for Pinner; £22; age over 20.—Please call 45. New Bondest.

Good Agent Wanted.—Anyone with spare time may secure a good and independent position. No risks outlay.—Address, T. U., 1461, "Daily Mirror," 2, Carellitest, E.O.

A GENTS WANTED.—Kylkol; 6d. packet saves 4 ton coal-coal profits one week, £10; you can do this— 0. Boph. 0. A. Hoult bonesster.

HOLIDAY APARTMENTS TO LET AND WANTED

BRIGHTON.-Johannesburg Boarding Establishmen Grand-parade; moderate charges; thoroughly comfor

EASTBOURNE.—Gardener, 72, Tideswell-rd; apartments near sea; central; moderate terms; envelope.

VILLAGE Apartments; 2 sitting, 3 bedrooms; good cook ing and attendance.—Fern Cottage, Chilham, near

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

A LADY wishes to sell lovely 56-guines upright, iro-grand drawing-room Piano; full trichord, on mastive setting the property of the property of the con-cition, handsome maxqueterie panel, with carved pillar maxly new; maker s 30 years warranty, transferable; tal-fo guines; approval wilingly.—G. 231, Burdett-d, Bot

BECHSTEIN PIANO; fine tone; perfect condition; great

DORD'S Planos.—25 per cent. discount for cash, or 14s. 6d, per month; second-hand pianos, short horizontal grands, from 25s.; upright grands, 17s. 6d.; cottages, 10s. 6d. to 15s. per month on the 5 years system.—0. 6d, and Co., 74 and 76, Southamptons, London, W.C.

MOTORS AND CYCLES.

YCLES (reliable); immediate delivery; cash or credit; catalogues free.—Hawleys, Reliable Works, Coventry, mples, 52, Hatton-garden. NTLEMAN'S Bicycle; 26in., free-wheel, 2 brakes, plated vims; £4 10s.—Moleyneux, 132. Cromwell-rd. Kensing.

OHAWK CYCLES,—Lady's or Gent's Popular Mohawk Roadster; varriage free within 50 miles; net cash, suguines,—Send for specification and price lit-iawk Motor and Cycle Co., Ltd., Chalk Farmerd, N.W.

TS, LIVE STOCK, AND VEHICLES

TTY small Fox Terrier Bitch; clean house dog s. 6d.; also dog and bitch pup, 7s. 6d. each; ex e.—White, 87, 14 Mark's-rd, Kennington Park.

MISCELLANEOUS.

KLES WEAK? Why? Explanatory booklet free.

Y "Flat Foot" cured; booklet free.—" Le Ped," Bootmaker, 76. Leadenhall-st. YOUR SHIRTS AND COLLARS WELL DRESSED not, post them to Thompson's Model Laundry, Marerd, Hammersmith.

THMA CURED by Zematone.—Write for free trial box to Cornford, 4, Lloyd's-av, London.

OMOSCOPY Test Readings: Colours and Numbers:
Madaune Sphaers fris; Mondays to Fridays, 11 a.m.
a., 5, Testillat first floori, Westminster, London, Time charge, half-hour, 6s; hour, 10s; personal sunzess, psychic colours described; months "Daily free on application; "Soliris" specialities on sale. AFNESS AND NOISES IN HEAD.—Gentleman (Cured Himself) will Send Particulars of Remedy Free.—H. n, 21, Amberley House, 35, Waterloo-rd, London.

LUVKLENER makes soiled gloves new, removes grease from all fabrics; 7d., free.—Gluvklener Co., Gloucester.

VOUSNESS, Mental Exhaustion, Involuntary Blush-ng, Anemia, General Lassitude, Heart Troubics cured expensive home treatment.—Full particulars, testi-ils, etc., post free two stamps, Health Remedy Com-1, Woodgate-terr, Eastbourne.

Daily Bargains.

NOTICE. — When replying to advertisements addressed to the "Daily Mirror" Office no remittance should be enclosed in the first instance.

BARGAIN.—UNDERLINEN, 9s. parcel.—8, Ladies chemises, knickers, petticoats; 3 beautiful night-dresses, 6d.; approval.—Mrs. Scott, 251, Uxbridge-rd, Shep d's Bush.

A COSTUME to measure 42s.—Marsh, Tailors, 47, White

FREE dainty sample Handkerchief, with illustrated lists; send stamp.—British Linen Company, Oxford-st BEATALL" Bargains.—Parcels white Cambric Rem nants; also Fancy's; only 1s. 3d.—"Beatall," Rushden BLOUSES made promptly; ladies' materials; from 2s.; excellent cut, fit.—Course, Blouse Specialist, Rushden.

world produces, insist on having

DON'T

DAILY BARGAINS.

NEW SEAISKIN JACKET, very elegant; latest fashion-able sacque shape, with stylish revers, richly lined; suit medium figure; cash wanted; sacrifice £5 15s.; worth £20; approval.—Marjorie, 29; Holland-st, S.W.

Claphan-rid.

200 LADIES SERGE COSTUMES, assorted colours, all colours

A BOON TO BUSY TRADESMEN.—"Your Business at a Glance "Account Book. Press opinions: "An ingenious system." a real friend to tradesmen and business mer generally, "simplicity itself, should be in great request;"

don, N.

A RTISTIO Crystoleum coloured Miniatures set in per A dants, trooches, etc., from 2s, 6d.; new permaner process from any photo; photos returned uninjured; samp. sent.—Ariston, 16, Queen-st, Cheapside, London. (Agen wanted everywhere.)

DAILY BARGAINS.

PATCHWORK.-200 silk pieces, is. 4d.; sample 100, 9d. -George, 35, Oxforderd, Lower Edmonton.

READING Cases (useful and handsome); will hold six copies of the "Daily Mirror"; 1s. each, post free 1s. 3d.—Postal orders to 2. Carmelite-st. London, E.C. SAFE.—Strong bent steel Cash Safe; 2ft. high; 12 lever lock; £5, delivered.—Lord's Safe Works, Wolver SEASIDE Postcards; six good views Hastings and neigh-bourhood, 6d., post free.—Coverdale, Grosvenor Library, St. Leonards West.

St. Leonards West.

S'INGER'S Tailor Sewing Machine; accept 70s.; bargain.

Goodman, 18, Old Cavendish-st, W.

19/6. LADY'S £6 6s. SOLID GOLD (stamped) KEY-graved case, splendid timekeeper, 10 years' warranty, week's 19/0. LESS WATCH, iswelled 10 rubies, richly engraved case, paientid timekeeps, 10 years' warranty, weeks trial. Sacrifice, 19s. 6d. 25 5s. ERRVICE SHEPFIELD 10/6. UTPEREY, 12 Table 12 Cheese Knives, Carvers, and Steel; Crayford Ivory balanced handles; unsolled; ascribice 0iz, 6d. approval before payment. 8/6. UURB CHAIN BADLOUN BURACLEET, 18-cars, 8s. 6d. Approval before symment. Section 10 to 10 t utul pattern, extra iong, 10s. 6d. Approval before payment. FIELD Pase, or Marino Glass, 24 48. military 50/6. bincoular, 40 units 'range, 10 achromatic crystal lenses, in saddier-made sling case. Sectifice, 9s. 6d.; approval before payment, 23 5s. i-pate HAND CAMERA; 9/6. tast 2 plates, time and anapabot shutter, with developing and printing accessories; sacrifice, 9s. 6d. approval Doffer payment, 25 5s. i-pate HAND CAMERA; 10/6. tall-10/6. tall-10/6. LaDVS magnificent 45 5s. paid Solid Ball-10/6. LaDVS magnificent 45 5s. paid Solid Ba

MARKETING BY POST.

—A DAINTY DRESS PARCEL for 30s.; a marvel of enterprise; 2s. 6d. deposit, balance 1s. weekly; write for patterns; no security or reference required.—H. J. rite and Son, Limited, Credit Stores, 70, 72, 74, 76, and Old Kent-fd, S.E.

78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.
78, 01d Rent-rd, S.E.

Market E.C.

TSupply, 25, Farningdon-4t, Smithfield, London, for 2 harge finest quality Spring Chickens, 4s, 2 extra large 4s, ed.; 2 large bolling Fowls, 3s, 6d.; 2 finest Arlesburg Docks, 5s, 6d., 12 finest Arlesburg Docks, 5s, 6d. All trussed, Carriace paid.

DOULTRY.—H. PEAKE is the PIONEER of high-class policy.

THREE SPEAL OFFERS.
THREE PROLITORING TO St.
TWO Large Breell-ratted Bowl, to 68.
TWO Large Finest Quality Chickens, 48.
Cah with order; carriage free.
H. PEAKE: 402-403. Central Markets, London. Tel 6762

Remember! PETER'S

Committee at the control of the cont

Artificial Testh bought; call, or forward by port, fill value per return, or offer made. Means M. Brownian Manufacturing Dendists, 125, Oxford-st, Locdon (Estab. SIX, times too much coal burned,—Write Sugar House SIX, times too much coal burned,—Write Sugar House SIX, times too much coal burned,—Write Sugar House Oxford-st, Dendon, Six of the Superior Sugar House Oxford-st, Dendon, Six of the Superior Sugar House Oxford-st, Dendon, Six of the Superior Sugar House Oxford-st, Six of the Superior Sugar House Oxford-st, Six of the Superior S

BARGAIN.—Ten-guines Service, silver, hall-marked Table cultery; 12 table, 12 dessert knives, pair carvers and steel; eleganty mounted, tory handles; numbled; ascribes of the control of t

Fish Knives and Forks; handsome 4-guines case, 6 pairs silver, hall-marked, mounted ivory handles; unused; accept 16s. 6d; companion case Deserts; 16s. 6d; elaborated 2-guines case Fish Carvers; 3s. 6d.; approval.—M. E., 31, (Clapham-rd.)

Clapham-td.
POREIGN STAMPS FREE.—40 different, free on receipt
C of 1d. postage (abroad 3d.), including China, Japan, Russia, Travancore, Hydersbad, South and Contral American, Australian, African, etc.—Gilbert and Co., Weston-super-

Automian, African, etc.—Glibert and Co., Westen-super, Methorsuper, The Innitrother, rich additional state, handsome square for carept pattern into rag registy table, and wases; 62 10s, or 2s. 6d. week.—Hind, 97, Wienbaden-td. Stoke Newinston. CARDEN HOSE. with Brass Tap Union, Rose, and Jet. Care complete, 50th, 12s. 6d., 10th., 20s.; carriage paid.—CW watch; timed 600th part of a minute; also illect, and complete of the comp don, W.

LADY'S 2-guinea new silk Umbrella, 10s. 6d.; 7in. silver handle, richly embossed; Paragon frame; approval.—S. U., 55, Handforth-rd, S.W.

PARTNERSHIPS AND FINANCIAL.

on approved note of hand, on payments to suit borrower's convenie fees or charges unless business compitall particulars to the actual lender, Romford-rd, Forest-gate, E. London OANS.—£10 upwards; househ repay by post,—Bridge, Broadw

MONEY advanced to Househorrowers' convenience.—Call or to £1,000 Advanced to householders and others on approved note of hand; no sureties required; trade liscounted on shortest notice; strictly private and outial—Before borrowing elsewhere write or call on lender, J. Vincent, 14, Islington-green, Islington, Advertisements under the headings:

Houses and Properties, Educational. Businesses for Sale and Wanted.

cinted and Published by THE PICTORIAL NEWSPAPER Co., LITD., at 2, Carmelite-street, E.C.-Tueşday, July 12, 1904.